Nationwide Walkout Pledged
As Support to New York
Building Workers

U. S. SENDS MEDIATOR

Police Turn Back Parade In Clash With 5,000; Other
Groups May Quit Jobs

By The Associated Press.
NEW YORK, March 4.—A threat of a nationwide strike of building service employees was added today to indications by strike leaders that the walkout of building workers in New York might be extending to other labor forces.

George Scallie, international vice president of the building service employees union, announced receipt from international headquarters of the organization in Chicago of the following telegram:

"If necessary, and at your discretion, we will call out every building service employee in the United States."

The development came shortly after Mayor LaGuardia voiced belief that the strike would be terminated today and James J. Brambrick, local head of the union, expressed a less optimistic view of the matter.

"If the real estate board continues to show the same rotten arrogance, I'm going to say 'let's fight it out in the streets,'" Brambrick asserted.

U. S. Intervenes
On the heels of a clash between police and an unofficially estimated crowd of 5,000 strike sympathizers, a federal government official intervened today in an effort to halt the walkout which has seriously crippled service in hundreds of New York's office and apartment buildings.

The clash between the strike sympathizers and police broke out on fashionable Park Avenue shortly after a mass meeting of strikers heard Brambrick shout:

"If they don't come across by Wednesday, we're going to give the order to tear down the entire town."

He was referring to owners of the buildings who have refused to concede to the strikers' demands.

"Your president is ready to call a general strike that will paralyze New York," Brambrick said.

Shortly afterward, most of those at the meeting formed three huge processions and swung down Park avenue, one of the world's best known residential streets.

Windows Smashed
Frightened tenants and building superintendents appealed to police for protection and radio patrols and squadmen were rushed to threatened areas.

A police barricade was thrown across the avenue in front of the building where Gov. Herbert H. Lehman has his part-time residence. A strong concentration of patrolmen massed behind the barricade.

As the crowd marched down the avenue, hurling stones through windows and smashing doors of skyscraper apartment buildings, police patrols assailed them from the flanks and succeeded in shunting small units into side streets.

When the marchers reached the barricade at 76th street, repeated police charges broke up the demonstrators and drove them westward to Central park.

COPELAND FORECASTS MIXTURE OF WEATHER

Below Normal Temperature
Predicted For County

Special To The Review.
MILLPORT, O., March 4.—An unusual amount of mixed weather, with temperatures probably below normal, is expected in Columbiana county during March, Lawrence H. Copeland, U. S. observer here, said today.

He made the forecast after announcing 42.5 inches of snowfall had been recorded here so far during the 1935-36 winter.

As result of sub-zero temperatures during February, wheat plants in many places are brown, the forecaster said. The mercury fell below zero 34 times last month, registering a total of 168 degrees under.

The minimum reading last month was 15 below on Feb. 20, and the greatest range was 40 degrees on Feb. 23.

January last year had an average temperature of 28.8, with no zero weather.

During December and January, the temperature was six degrees below normal, while February readings were 6.7 below.

Local Temperatures
Tuesday noon 35; Tuesday 6 p. m. 42; Tuesday midnight 34; today 6 a. m. 38; today noon 54; maximum 54; minimum 34; no precipitation.

HEADED FOR ENGLAND

Marlene Dietrich, glamorous screen star, will cross the Atlantic soon to join the constantly growing list of film favorites playing in London productions. She recently left the Paramount studios when a "front office" upheaval ousted her director, Ernst Lubitsch, walking off the set of "I Loved a Soldier" after having made several scenes of the picture. She immediately went into seclusion.

COALITION TALK GROWS IN G.O.P.

Hilles Points To Merits Of Combined Fight Against
New Deal Candidacy

By The Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 4.—Renewed Republican talk of a coalition with anti-administration Democrats arose today on the new deal's third anniversary.

Charles D. Hilles, Republican national committee chairman, said today, declared "there is much merit in the suggestion of utilizing in important roles thoroughly competent Democrats who are courageously resisting the President and his destructive doctrines."

Hilles' remark recalled a suggestion by Sen. Vandenberg of Michigan in a Lincoln day speech. Vandenberg invited "Jeffersonian" Democrats to join Republicans against President Roosevelt during the campaign and "in the council chamber after next November's victory is won."

At the time Rep. Snell (R.) of New York, the minority leader, frowned upon that suggestion. Chairman Henry P. Fletcher of the Republican national committee, said he had heard talk of a coalition but declined to discuss it.

Another political development discussed today was the appearance of 11th hour opposition to Tammany's designation of Alfred E. Smith as a delegate to the Democratic convention—from which he has threatened to "take a walk" if the new deal is endorsed.

Lull in Speech-Making
Before filing time expired at midnight Joseph O'Neill, State Island lawyer, filed a petition nominating himself from the 11th New York congressional district. Smith and William A. Fetherston has been designated from that district. The opposition will be carried to the primary election.

So far as political speech-making is concerned, there was a lull yesterday and today. New dealers were silent for the time being while preparing addresses for future delivery. In the opposite camp one of the few speeches was given by Rep. Bolton (R.) of Ohio, who attacked the new deal as "a reckless ride to ruin."

WPA PLANS TO TAKE 700,000 OFF ROLLS

Government Expects Other Employment to Reduce Relief Demands

By The Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 4.—New deal officials plan to thin out WPA rolls by more than 700,000 persons in the next four months.

They count on a spring expansion in private employment and on such government activities as road-building and public works projects to absorb many persons now getting relief through the works program administration.

Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins said yesterday the administration believes 100,000 persons a week would be placed in private or other employment from now until July 1.

COLUMBUS, March 4.—Employment of works progress administration workers in Ohio, Dr. Carl Watson, state administrator said today, will be reduced by 40,000 persons between April 1 and July 1.

The reduction would leave approximately 140,000 workers on the Ohio WPA rolls, Watson said.

SOVIETS READY TO FIGHT JAPAN OVER MONGOLIA

Stalin Says Nation Will Go
To War to Keep Republic
In Asia Independent

TALKS TO PUBLISHER

Denies Marxists Have Plan
For World Revolution;
Calls Idea Comic

By The Associated Press.
NEW YORK, March 4.—Russia under Joseph Stalin is ready to war with Japan if necessary to preserve Outer Mongolia's independence, the Soviet dictator said in an interview given Roy W. Howard, chairman of the board of Scripps-Howard newspapers, and published today under a world copyright, by the New York World-Telegram.

"If Japan ventures to attack the Mongolian Peoples' Republic and seeks to destroy its independence, we have to be able to help that republic," Howard quoted Stalin as saying in reply to a direct question.

The interview was held in Stalin's office in the Kremlin, in Moscow and lasted for three hours.

Country Would Get Advantage
"Neutrality military observers believe Japan is seeking to drive a wedge into Outer Mongolia by way of Manchuko, intended to block off assistance for the Soviet by way of China proper in the event of war," Howard commented.

"With possession of Ulan Bator, the capital of Outer Mongolia, the Japanese air forces would be in an advantageous position to threaten the Trans-Siberian line at one of its most vulnerable points."

"Would a Japanese attempt to seize Ulan Bator make positive action by the Soviet union necessary?" Stalin was asked.

"Yes," was the reply.

No Revolution Planned
"We never had any such plan," he asserted when asked whether the Soviet union had abandoned its intent to bring about world revolution. "That is a tragic misunderstanding. No, a comic one—well, tragicomic."

"We Marxists believe revolution will occur in other countries, but only at a time when it will be considered possible or necessary by the revolutionists in each specific country."

"To attempt to export revolution is nonsense."

BRECKINRIDGE LEADS FIGHT ON NEW DEAL

Action Called Independent
Of Other Organizations

By The Associated Press.
NEW YORK, March 4.—Col. Henry Breckinridge, in entering his name in the Ohio and Maryland Democratic preferential primaries in opposition to President Roosevelt, is acting independently of other anti-new deal party leaders and forces.

"I had hoped," he said today, before leaving for an address tonight in Baltimore, "that some other Democrat would enter the various state preferential primaries to record a challenge to the new deal. But no one has done so and the deadline is near at hand."

Col. Breckinridge, an assistant secretary of war in the first cabinet of Woodrow Wilson, is waging his fight because of a "personal conviction," he said.

"I saw the World war and its aftermaths sweep away constitutional democracy from much of the world," he said, "and unmistakable evidences and trends in the current administration in Washington have given me strong fears for the safety of political liberties in the United States. And there can be no economic liberty without political liberty."

Breckinridge, a New York lawyer, said "there must be many other Democrats who have similar views and unless they had the opportunity to express it in the preferential primaries, their protest would go unnoticed."

Ohio House and Senate Still Unable To Agree On Ending Session

By The Associated Press.
COLUMBUS, O., March 4.—The house and senate continued in unrelenting disagreement today over the question of adjournment and Gov. Martin L. Davey withheld action on his constitutional right to send both houses home.

Senate majority leader Paul P. Yoder sent his colleagues a memorandum asserting that leaders must under no circumstances overrule a senate decree not to consider pending legislation before March 28.

The house remained in a "five-minute-recess" subject to the call of the chair. Speaker J. Freer Bittinger and Republican Leaders William M. McCulloch said the body would continue until the senate had done something definite toward ending the session, which opened five and one half months ago.

HOFFMAN'S FOES RENEW ATTACKS

Hauptmann Case Activities
Bring Efforts to Start
State Investigation

By The Associated Press.
TRENTON, N. J., March 4.—A fresh attack on Gov. Harold G. Hoffman's investigation of the Bruno Richard Hauptmann case was pushed forward today by a member of his own party, on the grounds the governor's activities are impairing the efficiency of a major state department.

Basil B. Bruno of Long Branch, member of the anti-Hoffman Republican group in the assembly, canvassed the house members on their views of his resolution which would authorize an investigation of the motor vehicle department, which Hoffman headed before he became governor.

The legislator charged that employees of the department are being used by the governor for other activities, including investigation of unsolved angles of the Lindbergh kidnap-murder.

Hauptmann, convicted of the crime, is under sentence to die the week of March 30, but there were strong indications the governor would grant a second reprieve.

If he does grant another stay, it was learned Prosecutor Anthony M. Hauck of Hunterdon county, scene of the trial, may apply for a writ of certiorari to challenge it. Hauck would base his action on an interpretation of a law which holds the governor's power of reprieve extends for only 90 days after conviction.

Bruno's move for an investigation closely followed reports of strained relations among Democratic state leaders over the reported intention of Gov. Hoffman not to appoint Col. H. Norman Schwarzkoff, head of the state police, when his five-year term expires in June. Schwarzkoff directed the Lindbergh crime investigation.

JOHN W. MOORE RENAMED CLERK OF VOTE BOARD

Secretary of State Makes Appointment After Deadlock
at Meeting Here

5 ROLL CALLS TAKEN

Incumbent Wins Over Lisbon
Republican After Group
Fails to Organize

Secretary of State George S. Myers at Columbus today named John W. Moore, East Liverpool Democratic incumbent, clerk of the Columbiana county election board, after the four members of the board failed to agree in five ballots here Tuesday afternoon.

Moore was chosen over L. H. Johnson, Lisbon Republican, by the state official, who immediately advised the two Republican and two Democratic members of his decision.

The deadlock was referred to Myers immediately after the board was unable to organize. His ballot gave the necessary majority for Moore.

The two candidates each received two votes cast on party lines, at the board's session.

Moore was nominated and supported by C. V. Beatty, chairman of the Democratic county executive committee, and his colleague, Robert M. Patterson of Lisbon, who succeeded Charles A. Cavanaugh, of Salem.

Mrs. Barr Nominates Johnson
Johnson's name was presented by Mrs. Genesta S. Barr of Lisbon, who, with Willis Davidson, of East Liverpool, recently reappointed, voted for him on the limit of roll calls permitted by the state election law. They are the Republican members.

Unable to organize because of the deadlock, the board members, acting under the law, certified a copy of the minutes of the session to Secretary of State Myers, chief election officer of the state, who will select one of the candidates for the clerkship.

Mrs. Barr, who urged the selection of a Republican for the clerkship, was temporary chairman of the session.

McNutt Firm Awarded Contract
The McNutt Printing Co., of East Liverpool, was awarded the contract for printing 10,000 ballots, including 450 for absent voters, for the tax levy election on a low bid of $26.

Other proposals ranging from $75 to $33 were submitted by the Joseph Bennett Printing Co., Lisbon; Reporter Printing Co., Leetonia, and Betz and Simms Printing companies, East Liverpool.

The vote supervisors proceeded with business in connection with the East Liverpool balloting and also discussed plans for the presidential preference, state, district

PRINCE REJECTS JOB AS PREMIER

Popular Young Aristocrat's
Refusal Starts Japan On
Hunt for Leader

[Copyright, 1936, By The Associated Press.]
TOKYO, March 4.—The aristocratic Prince Konohe declined today an opportunity to become Japan's youngest premier, sending Emperor Hirohito and his advisers on a new search for a man who will be able to head the government in its crisis.

Indications from the imperial palace tonight were that the aged Prince Saionji, having advised the nomination of Prince Konohe unsuccessfully, would not make another attempt to find a new premier before tomorrow.

The capital became greatly excited upon the announcement that Prince Konohe, popular with virtually all elements, had been summoned to the palace and commanded to form a cabinet to replace that of Premier Keisuke Okada, which was shattered by last week's militarist rebellion and assassinations.

The 42-year-old Prince Konohe retired, consulted Prince Saionji and others and then returned to the palace to tell the emperor he would be unable to form a ministry.

"I asked his majesty to excuse me from the great responsibility of heading the cabinet owing to poor health," he announced.

A communiqué from the martial law headquarters disclosed that more than 1,400 officers and men participated in the rebellion which broke out at dawn last Wednesday.

Gen. Gichi Nishi, a member of the supreme war council, was named as inspector-general of military education to succeed Gen. Jotaro Watanabe, who was assassinated in last week's insurrection.

STATE BEGINS SURVEY OF OHIO TOLL BRIDGES

Commission Will Meet With Steubenville Civic Leaders Thursday

By The Associated Press.
SANDUSKY, March 4.—Members of the state bridge commission plan to meet with Steubenville civic leaders next Thursday and Friday at the start of a survey on making Ohio river bridges toll-free.

A similar meeting will follow in Marietta on Saturday, said George C. Hill, commission member. Other southern Ohio cities will be visited later.

Hill estimated that it might take 10 years before Ohio river bridges were either owned by the state or made free. This week the commission completed plans for purchase of the Sandusky bay toll bridge.

Levy of 33 1/2 Percent On Corporations' Undivided
Surpluses Expected to Provide $635,000,000

PROVISIONS TAKEN UP BEHIND CLOSED DOORS

Democrats Hint Legislators
Will Oppose Measure As Congress Becomes Scene
Of Factional Fight

By The Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 4.—A house ways and means sub-committee and treasury financial experts today canvassed possibilities of meeting President Roosevelt's day-old tax suggestions with a levy averaging 33 1/2 percent on undistributed corporate surpluses.

As discussed behind closed doors, no portion of the surpluses would be exempt. President Roosevelt yesterday drew a distinction between surplus and reserves set up to cover depreciation and working capital.

Chairman Samuel B. Hill (D.) of Washington, said after the committee meeting, however, it was the "general understanding that banks and fiduciary corporations such as life insurance companies would be exempt."

He added that "it is contended" such a program would not prevent corporations building up reserves.

To Raise $620,000,000
The committee began its preliminary survey of the sweeping tax proposals, by which Mr. Roosevelt seeks to raise $620,000,000 annually for farm subsidies and the soldiers bonus, as congress divided into bitterly warring camp over the revenue request.

Since corporations now are paying around 16 percent taxes on their net income, Hill said, they could hold back about half of their earnings for surplus and under the average of 33 1/2 percent still pay no more taxes than at present.

Powerful Democrats hinted congress may make drastic changes in the tax program.

Some Republicans assailed the plan as an "assault on thrift" and a menace to business confidence; some Democrats also frowned on it.

New dealers hailed it as a means to speed the velocity of money turnover, force "distribution of wealth" and hasten recovery.

Administration leaders emphasized that the plan was only a "suggestion" to congress. As a house ways and means sub-committee gathered to discuss the proposal behind locked doors, there was much talk in congressional corridors of revisions in the program.

Congress was still somewhat stunned over the breadth of the proposal. The President suggested that present corporate income taxes and other related levies be wiped out. In their stead he would slap a drastic tax on profits which corporations hold in their treasuries as surplus instead of distributing as dividends.

Administration advisers indicated this graduated tax might average 33 1/2 percent. This, it is held, would tend to drive such funds into the hands of stockholders as dividends. (Stocks jumped $1 to $5 a share in New York yesterday as traders heard the President's message.)

Once in the hands of stockholders, the money would be subject to the normal income tax rate of four percent and the graduated surtax. At present a stockholder pays only the surtax on income from dividend.

Other Points Forgotten
The net result, the President argued, would be $620,000,000 gain in federal revenue, with which to support the $500,000,000 farm subsidy program and to amortize the additional cost of paying the bonus now instead of in 1945.

So intense was the discussion of these points that comparatively little attention was paid for the time being to other points in the President's message. He suggested that $500,000,000 be obtained over two or three years by a special tax to retrieve AAA processing levies which were refunded to processors and by new excises on the processing of farm commodities.

President Roosevelt was quick to declare in a press conference late yesterday that the proposed tax on corporation profits would not apply to reserves set up to cover depreciation.

STATE WILL IMPROVE NEW GARDEN ROAD

Special To The Review.
LISBON, O., March 4.—The state highway department program for the improvement of the New Garden-Moultrie link, which is known as the "old state road," was assured today, when the Columbiana county commissioners announced they had acquired necessary right-of-way.

Several small tracts of land have been obtained near Chambersburg as part of the plan for grading and surfacing of seven miles of the highway which extends westward from New Garden to New Alexander, thence to Chambersburg and Moultrie, where a new road will be tapped at the Columbiana-Stark county line.

Eastward from New Garden to Guilford, the road has been improved, providing a connection with a paved highway at the county home, thence extending eastward to the Lincoln highway.

The New Garden-Moultrie project will become a part of the state highway system under the improvement plan.

CITY VOTES 6-1 AGAINST BAN ON DANCE HALL RUM

Wellsville Council Rejects Legislation Suggested by Rev. L. B. Douglass

KESSELL FAVORS PLAN

Solicitor MacDonald Points Out Mayor Has Power to Revoke Licenses

Wellsville council Tuesday night rejected, 6 to 1, legislation to prohibit the sale of liquor in public dance halls.

Councilman O. K. Kessell cast the only affirmative ballot for a proposed amendment to previously enacted restrictions on dancing places, after an appeal for the liquor ban had been made by Rev. L. B. Douglass, pastor of the Methodist Protestant church, who said he represented a group of citizens, including members of the Women's Christian Temperance union.

Girls Under 18 are Banned
Member Charles C. Ewing, who explained he was a dry supporter, said the dance hall legislation, which contains a license clause, prohibits admittance of girls under 18, unless they are accompanied by parents or guardian.

Mayor Howard L. Kelley declared steps would be taken at once to cope with the situation if investigation showed conditions as outlined during the discussion prevailed in dance halls. He said police were visiting suspicious places at least 10 times a week.

Solicitor James L. MacDonald advised the mayor had power to refuse or revoke licenses under legislation previously enacted.

Rev. A. W. Bonacci, pastor of the Faith Italian mission, said it was the "business of council to pass the amendment and not pass the buck to the mayor."

To Fix Janitor's Salary
The ordinance committee was instructed to prepare legislation setting the salary of the city hall janitor.

A motion was passed asking the board of education to deed Central park to the city.

Mayor Kelley and Service-Safety Director Fred Gluth said complaints on street conditions would be given immediate attention.

Mayor Kelley reported collections of $398.90 during February.

STATE COURT REFUSES TO HEAR SALEM SUIT

S. S. Kresge Co. Must Comply With Terms of Store Room Lease

SALEM, O., March 4.—The state supreme court today refused to review the case of Josephine Raymond and Juliet Moff, owners of a building in South Broadway here, against the S. S. Kresge Co., novelty store operators, in a suit which had been previously heard in both the Columbiana county common pleas and the district court of appeals.

The Kresge Co., it is claimed, leased the Moff property in Salem 1, 1930 at a rental of $3,000 a year, for a term of 50 years from March 1930. The property was vacated for another location on East State street. The owners of the property won the suit, filed at Lisbon, compelling the company to abide by the terms of the lease and this decision was upheld by the district court of appeals.

CLARA G. MELHOLLIN, FORMER TEACHER, DIES

Former East Liverpool Educator Stricken at East Palestine

Special To The Review.
EAST PALESTINE—Miss Clara G. Melhollin, 62, former teacher in the Grant street school, East Liverpool, and an educational worker for 34 years, died at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Early, 122 West North avenue, today at 8:15 a. m., after two weeks' illness of pneumonia. She was a teacher of the fifth grade in the East North avenue school here.

Born in Muskingum county on Jan. 12, 1874, a daughter of George and Lucinda Melhollin, she graduated from Ohio Northern university at Ada and also took special training, including kindergarten work, at Ohio State university, Columbus. She spent one year in East Liverpool, one year in Florida and 11 years in schools for Indians in South Dakota and Michigan. She had lived here for 16 years.

Miss Melhollin is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Charles F. Gooding, Columbus, and Mrs. W. S. Wise, Zanesville.

The body will be taken to Columbus tonight where funeral services will be held in the Gooding home Saturday at 2 p. m. Burial will be made in Greenlawn cemetery there.

Friends are requested to call at the Early home tonight.

Jackson Powell

Jackson Powell, 64, died at 10 a. m. at his home in 423 West Eighth street after a long illness. He was born at Longbottom and had lived here 30 years, previously being employed as a kiln fireman in district plants.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Ella Powell, he leaves three brothers, John, Major and Lyle, and three sisters, Mrs. Sarah Wagner, Mrs. Jacob Dirst and Mrs. Otis Swan, all of Longbottom.

Private funeral services will be held in the home Friday at 7 p. m., and burial will be made Saturday afternoon at Longbottom.

instances of violence and disorder and arrested 75 persons.

Edward F. McGrady, assistant secretary of labor, who is representing the government in efforts to settle the strike, later was reported meeting secretly with Bambrick.

McGrady, who flew here last night from Akron, O., arranged other sessions today between city officials, labor representatives and building operators to arbitrate the adamant stands of workers and employers. The union demands shorter working hours, wage increases and a closed shop.

While police estimated that 1309 buildings were crippled wholly or in part by the strike, Bambrick said that 1100 buildings had signed contracts reducing the union estimate of affected buildings to 4,000.

Operators set a much lower figure and said that sufficient service was being maintained in all buildings.

3 CHURCHES TO OPEN REVIVAL HERE SUNDAY

Dr. P. W. Philpott of Canada To Preach in U. P. Pulpit

Three congregations, the First Presbyterian, First United Presbyterian and First Baptist, will join in an evangelistic campaign which will open Sunday night at the United Presbyterian church when Rev. Dr. P. W. Philpott of Toronto, Canada, will preach.

Preparatory to the meetings, the first of two union prayer services were conducted in the United Presbyterian edifice Tuesday night. Another will be conducted in the Baptist church Thursday at 7:30 p. m.

Rev. L. J. Davidson, the pastor, who spoke at Tuesday night's services, said:

"Prayer is as natural between man and God as are requests and communion of children with their earthly fathers. Prayer is that in which one must persist. It is that which lends and begets encouragement. Prayer should be made definite."

"In these days, men and women need to pray for the things which were definite in the petitions of Paul, the Apostle. These included petitions for the strengthening of the power of the Spirit in the petitioner, request that Christ should dwell in individual hearts, that men and women have the faculty to comprehend the love of God for humanity and that all coming to Him might be filled with the Holy Spirit."

The benediction was pronounced by Rev. A. H. O'Brien, pastor of the First Baptist church.

precitation and to provide working capital.

What he aimed at, he indicated, was profit which is held by corporations in the form of surplus. He argued this was a means of escaping taxation and was unfair to small stockholders who need the dividend money.

Assailing the President's plan on the house floor, Rep. Snell of New York, minority leader, said "accumulated surpluses enabled many corporations to carry on and give employment."

Sent To House Committee
Even as a vigorous row developed on the house floor, the ways and means committee, which will frame the measure, relegated the whole subject to a subcommittee which began its task today. Chairman Doughton, Democrat said opening hearings before the full committee would follow.

Rep. Knutson (R) of Minnesota, touched off an explosive floor interchange with a critical speech. O'Connor (D) of New York, accused the Republicans of already playing politics with the tax proposal.

Chairman Harrison (D) of Mississippi of the senate finance committee, which will take charge of the tax bill when it emerges from the house, termed the message a "complete answer to those who have been shouting about unbalanced budgets." He hoped they would "cheerfully pay their share."

DAVEY BUILDS SLATE FOR PRIMARY BATTLE

George Eppley Becomes Candidate For State Auditor's Post

By The Associated Press.
COLUMBUS, O., March 4.—Entry of George Eppley, state liquor board chairman, as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for state auditor strengthened indications today that Gov. Martin L. Davey would line up a slate of candidates for the May 12 primary.

House Speaker J. Freer Bittinger said Monday he would be a candidate for lieutenant governor and that he had the governor's backing.

Eppley was active in behalf of Davey during the 1934 campaign.

These moves on the part of Democrats led by Gov. Davey were seen by political observers as first steps toward combatting the Democratic candidacy of Lieut. Gov. Harold Mosier for governor and Sen. Paul P. Yoder of Eaton for lieutenant governor.

Both Mosier and Yoder have been critical of the Davey administration.

SPASMS OF LAUGHTER LEAVE GIRL INVALID

Seige Shows Signs of Abating As Doctor's Hope Grows

WESTON, W. Va., March 4.—Pretty Teresa Hawkins didn't laugh so much today and this led doctors to hope there soon will be an end to the spasms of merriment which within a week made her a semi-conscious invalid.

The 18-year-old business college student began her seventh day of almost constant laughter, which started as she sat in a theater last Wednesday night.

Dr. J. E. Offner announced that as soon as possible he will operate for a pelvic disorder but declined to say whether that had any connection with the case. The doctor said it might be a week before the proper diagnosis can be made.

Other medical attendants also declined to advance an explanation of the laughter which first broke out while Teresa was watching a serious show—not a comedy.

HANCOCK REGISTRARS BEGIN CHECK MONDAY

Electors To Be Listed For May and November Votes

Special To The Review.
NEW CUMBERLAND, W. Va., March 4.—Forty-six registrars, a Republican and a Democrat in each of the 23 voting precincts in the county, appointed by the county court Monday, will begin work on Monday March 16 listing voters who will be eligible to cast ballots in the May 12 and Nov. 3 election.

They will make a house-to-house canvass, after which notices will be posted for public registration April 13 and 14. The books will be returned to the court on April 20. The court will meet May 5 for a final review of the records for the primary election and on Oct. 12 and 13 for the November election enrollment checkup.

In the 1932 registration, Hancock county listed 12,773 voters, of whom 4,935 were Democrats; 5,665 Republicans and 173 Socialists and Prohibitionists. This was the first time in the history of Hancock county that Democrats led in the registration.

RELIEF LEVY APPROVED

CINCINNATI, March 4.—Hamilton county relief and welfare workers looked ahead today to another year of ministering to the needy unhampered by threat of a flattened pocketbook. With results from only three precincts to be tallied, election board members chalked up approval of a one-half mill levy, designed to raise $1,000,000 by a vote of 55,809 for, and 17,896 against.

FUNERALS ARRANGED FOR VICTIMS OF FIRE

Services Planned for Former Irondale Residents

Funeral services for two former Irondale residents, who lost their lives in the Warren hotel fire Monday, will be held Thursday and Friday and burial will be made in Spring Hill cemetery at Wellsville. They are John McBane, 48, and Mrs. Edna Wiles Canole, 38, both of whom were living in Warren.

Services for Mr. McBane, who was born and reared in Irondale, will be held at the home of his sister, Mrs. Grace Stout, in Irondale, Thursday at 2 p. m. He was a hot mill superintendent at the Republic Steel Co.'s plant in Warren.

Besides Mrs. Stout, he leaves three brothers, William, of Irondale, Hugh of Warren and Robert of Granite City, Ill., and one stepson, Angelo Strabley, of Warren.

He was a member of the Knights of Pythias, Eagles, Jenkins lodge, F. and A. Masons, and the Grotto, of Warren.

Funeral services for Mrs. Canole, who was killed when she leaped or fell from a third story window, will be held at the MacLean chapel in Wellsville, Friday at 2:30 p. m., in charge of Rev. J. Frank Stewart, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church.

Mrs. Canole leaves her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Wiles of Irondale; five sisters, Mrs. Edward Welser of Akron; Mrs. Ray Baker and Mrs. Leroy Conkle of East Liverpool; Mrs. Earl Tice of Irondale and Mrs. Patrick McDermott of Warren, and four brothers, Clayton Wiles of Irondale; Beryl and Leroy Wiles of Minerva and William Wiles of Irondale.

Friends are asked to call Thursday night at the MacLean funeral parlors.

STATE WILL COMBAT PENSION CHISELERS

Board Plans Reinvestigation of Applicants

By The Associated Press.
COLUMBUS, March 4.—The division of aid for the aged started today a new program of investigation of pension applicants to protect the state against chiselers.

L. M. Lamoreaux, office manager, announced that under the new arrangement pensions would expire from time to time throughout the year, instead of during the winter months, as at present.

This, he said, will give investigators "a maximum amount of time and attention to each investigation."

"Many times," he said "we find that after a year a pensioner's status has changed so that he no longer needs or is entitled to a pension."

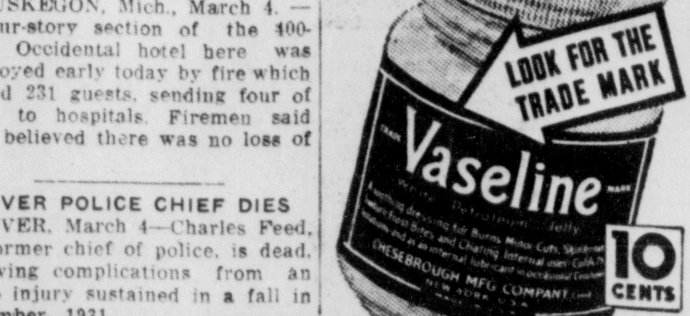

He might get a job or fall heir to an estate. Then, too, we find that due to generally improved economic conditions the status of responsible relatives is changing. A man who a year ago could not support his parents may be able to do so today. In these cases pensions are not renewed. That is one reason why reinvestigations at least once every 12 months are essential to protect the state against chiselers."

The division awaited meanwhile the report of four representatives of the federal social security board who checked the division's administration preliminary to the board's action on Ohio's application for an $8,000,000 grant.

COUNCILMEN CUT BUDGET FOR 1936 AT WELLSVILLE

Lawmakers Adopt Ordinance Providing Appropriations Totalling $99,163

DECREASE OF $13,000

Estimate for Health Board Cut After Objections to Salary of Officer

Wellsville's budget for the year was reduced $13,000 from the requirements for 1935, when council Tuesday night enacted an appropriation ordinance providing for a total outlay of $99,163, based upon a 100 percent collection of real estate taxes.

The $1,080 estimate of the health board was decreased 50 percent, after objections were made to the $540 salary fixed for the health officer. Councilmen expressed the opinion the allowance was excessive for the service performed, but Auditor W. A. Bennett advised that the state paid half the salary. Solicitor James L. MacDonald said the state law gave the health board authority to control its own affairs.

Appropriations Are Listed

Amounts allotted various departments were: General—council $60; clerk, $255; mayor, $1,850; auditor, $1,750; treasurer, $510; solicitor, $585; legal advertising, $200; justice of peace courts, $25; civil service commission, $55; printing bonds, redemption of scrip and premiums on official bonds, $3,000; damages and court costs, $100, total $9,880; safety department—general administration, $305; fire, police, telephone and telegraph, $25; police department, $4,590; fire department, $6,715; outdoor relief, $1,080, total, $12,135; health department, general administration, $455; sanitary, $72.50; quarantine, $12.50, total, $540; service department—general administration, $305; engineering, $50; street lighting, $2,100; garbage, $1,000; sewers and drains, $1,300; public parks, $100; public buildings and grounds, $1,650; public recreation, $50, total, $6,555; water department, office, $2,635; supplies, $2,200; filtration, $800; distribution, $3,500; extension, extraordinary repairs, $500; transfers, $6,457, total, $16,192; cemetery, operation and maintenance, $3,575; firemen's indemnity, $50; general bond retirement, $29,813; special assessments bond retirement, $1,502, total, $99,163.

Police Ordinance Planned

Mayor Howard L. Kelley informed council that an ordinance fixing the personnel of the police department would be submitted at the next session.

The announcement followed a discussion regarding no record in the minute book of previous legislation.

COUNTY FARMERS GET $23,180 AAA BENEFITS

Corn-Hog Benefit Payments Top Columbiana Fund

Columbiana county farmers received benefits totaling $23,180.23 from the defunct agricultural adjustment administration during 1935, an Associated Press dispatch from Washington reported today.

The payments represented their shares of a $15,210,317 total disbursed in Ohio.

Corn-hog payments topped the county's credit with $18,258.39, while $4,921.84 was contributed to wheat growers.

No tobacco or sugar benefits were paid in Columbiana.

In the state, the total corn-hog disbursements was $11,454,327; wheat payments, $2,070,240; tobacco, $1,038,816.68, and sugar $646,932.

Nearby Jefferson county received a total of $10,510.39 as wheat and corn-hog benefits.

FOUR MORE WEIRTON BEER PLACES CLOSED

Tax Commissioner Revokes Permits of Dealers

Special To The Review. WEIRTON, W. Va., March 4.—Four additional beer permits in this Hancock county steel city were ordered revoked March 15, by State Tax Commissioner Fred L. Fox today, after hearings at Charleston Monday.

Dealers who will lose their licenses include American Lunch and Beer parlor, 2000 Main street, J. J. Barber, proprietor; Antler Cafe and Restaurant, 3100 Main street block, W. Y. McPhail and Roy Morrison, proprietors; Century Cafe, Pennsylvania avenue and Main street, Albert Schiappa, proprietor; Tri-State Beer parlor, 3100 Main street block, Nick Evkovich, proprietor.

Liquor violations were charged by state troopers.

Commissioner Fox revoked the permits of 12 other beer establishments, 11 of them in Weirton, in January, on similar charges.

30 CHILDREN RECEIVE NYA AID IN HANCOCK

Fifteen Pupils in Lawrenceville Section Get Financial Help

NEW CUMBERLAND, W. Va., March 4.—Thirty Hancock county school children are receiving temporary employment to assist them in securing an education through NYA funds, Supervisor Kenneth Hill announced today. Fifteen of this number are employed in the Lawrenceville section, 10 at New Cumberland and five at Newell. They work two days a week, five hours a day and receive a basic wage of $13 a month. Skilled workers receive $19 a month.

An additional force of 25 are to be put to work on a landscaping project at the Weirton High and Central school next week. A force of 20 pupils are being furnished with employment in Brooke county, also under supervision of Mr. Hill.

Jobless Press Levy Vote

COLUMBUS, March 4.—More than 300 members of the Columbus police and fire departments, furloughed when voters refused to approve a proposed three-mill levy, scheduled a meeting today to consider sponsoring initiative petitions to put a similar proposal on the ballot in the May 12 primary. City officials said such a levy would solve the city's financial crisis, growing out of expected income $800,000 under originally proposed expenditures.

PROFITS TAKEN AFTER UPSWING

List Holds Some First-Hour Advances Which Follow Overnight Orders

By The Associated Press. NEW YORK, March 4.—A little profit taking entered today's stock market after heavy overnight buying orders had been filled at the opening.

Gains of 1 to 3 points or so in the first hour were held by Allied Chemical, American Can, Westinghouse, Schenley, National Steel and Western Union.

Small fractional advances were recorded by Consolidated Gas, U. S. Steel, Montgomery Ward, Douglas, Budd Mfg., North American, U. S. Industrial Alcohol, Santa Fe, N. Y. Central and Radio, Chrysler, General Motors, Sears Roebuck and many others were virtually unchanged.

Foreign currencies were steady in terms of the dollar. Commodities were quiet, as were bonds. Call money renewed at 1/8 of 1 percent.

The administration's new tax program was the principal topic of discussion in the financial sector. Of clearing import was the weekly survey of "Iron Age" which found that miscellaneous demand for finished steel was expanding satisfactorily with railroad orders and construction activities accounting for steady mill operations. Milder weather was said to have halted the increase in scrap prices. A slight decline in electric power production for the week ended Feb. 29, was attributed partly to a break in the abnormally cold weather. The total output, however, was considerably ahead of the aggregate in the same 1935 period.

Sterling, at the start of foreign exchange dealings, was up 1/4 of a cent at $4.94, and the French franc was .002 of a cent firmer at 6.66 1/2 cents.

RAIL ORDER LET

CLEVELAND, March 4.—The Nickel Plate Railroad announced allocation of orders for 6,300 tons of 112-pound rails as follows: Bethlehem Steel Corp., Lackawanna, N. Y., 500; Carnegie-Illinois Steel Co., Bessemer, Pa., 1,250; Carnegie-Illinois Steel Co., Gary, Ill., 3,250; Indiana Harbor, Ind., 1,500.

NCR BUSINESS GAINS

DAYTON, March 4.—Domestic orders of the National Cash Register Co. for February, 1936, totaled $1,591,675 compared with $1,179,375 for February, 1935, an increase of $412,300 or a percentage increase of 34.9. Orders for the year are running heavier than last business for the year up to Feb. 29, totaled $3,417,050 as compared with 2,449,375 for the like period in 1935, an increase of 29.5 percent.

C. & O. ORDERS RAILS

NEW YORK, March 4.—The Chesapeake & Ohio railroad has placed orders for 20,000 tons of 131 pound rails with three steel companies. The Sparrows Point plant of the Bethlehem Steel Corp. received an order for 2,000 tons; Carnegie-Illinois' Bessemer plant received an order for 2,500 tons; Carnegie-Illinois' Gary plant was awarded 9,420 tons, and the Indiana Harbor plant of Inland Steel received a 5,000-ton order.

CONSOLIDATION PLANNED

CHICAGO, March 4.—Consolidation of the Davidson Biscuit Co. of Mt. Vernon, Ill., and the Hampton Cracker Co. of Louisville, Ky., has been agreed upon. The merged company will be known as the Consolidated Biscuit Co. A meeting of stockholders of the Davidson concern was called for March 16 to authorize the change.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, March 4.—Advances of wheat prices early today resulted from overnight virtual absence of moisture southwest, and from Liverpool market firmness. Buying, however, lacked volume.

Opening 1 1/2 cent higher, May $1.00 1/4, July 90 1/4, wheat then held near to this range. Corn started 1 1/2 up, May 61 1/4, and continued firm.

Common Sense about HEADACHE

Usually a headache is due to high nerve tension. At such times all you need is a little Capidine. This remedy is very effective because it quickly soothes tense nerves and eases pain.

Of course headache may come from more serious sources. Sometimes it may be an abscessed tooth, or some underlying cause which only your family physician can discover. Meanwhile, avoid suffering as much as you can by using Capidine.

Capidine's action is unusually quick because it is liquid and its ingredients are already dissolved. No narcotics.

TOWNSENDITES SPEAK AT PALESTINE RALLY

Harry Smith Heads East Liverpool Delegation at Session Tuesday

EAST PALESTINE, O., March 4. Harry Smith, president of East Liverpool's first Townsend club, headed a delegation which joined in an old age pension rally in the Odd Fellows' temple here Tuesday night.

Smith, Rev. C. R. Cheeks of the Glenmoor United Presbyterian church, north of East Liverpool, and John F. Myers of North Canton, district organizer, were among the speakers.

The East Palestine club will attend a rally at East Liverpool next Monday night, while a delegation will go to New Waterford Thursday night for the institution of a club.

Rev. E. D. Murch, pastor of the Christian church here, will speak at a Columbia rally tonight and at a local meeting March 17.

Clifford Leake, president, and John Peterson, secretary, were named delegate and alternate, respectively, to attend the district convention at Steubenville, March 13.

It Comes Out Here

Whatever President Roosevelt's ideas on taxation may not be, they are always difficult to understand.

On Tuesday, congress received the White House's recommendations for a tax program. The program was decorated with the startlingly large total of $1,614,000,000, which made congressmen shake in their shoes.

Close examination revealed certain redeeming features. No direct taxes were proposed for places where large numbers of votes would be affected. The whole thing, in fact, was a mustard plaster for corporations and their stockholders, including the well known widows and orphans.

Simplified, Mr. Roosevelt's proposal calls for a tax on undistributed corporate profits which the treasury believes would yield $1,614,000,000. However, since other taxes which were supposed to yield $994,000,000 this year would be repealed, the new income would be only $620,000,000.

A direct tax on unpaid and returned processing taxes plus new processing taxes would add $517,000,000 to the $620,000,000 for a total of $1,137,000,000 in the next fiscal year. Both taxes would be temporary. The tax on undistributed corporate profits would be permanent. It would provide revenue for payments under the new farm aid bill, estimated at $500,000,000, and leave approximately $120,000,000 for other purposes. Present plans make $120,000,000 as the amount needed annually to pay the soldiers' bonus over a period of nine years. Presto, the ordinary budget is balanced.

There are, of course, complications on the practical side. Mr. Roosevelt's figures are estimates, not actualities. Some of the estimates, furthermore, strain the imagination, such as an annual yield of anything like $1,614,000,000 from a tax on undistributed corporate profits. Obviously, corporations would not submit passively to such confiscation.

There will be difficulty, no doubt, persuading some congressmen that a confiscatory tax on undistributed corporate profits is proper. Every prudent corporation lays aside some of its net earnings, just as every prudent individual tries to lay up something against a rainy day. The present administration seems hostile to the idea of prudence in any form, but it may have trouble imposing its will on a majority in congress.

In fact, it is extremely puzzling. One longs for something tangible on which he can take his stand. Retreat is provided in the certainty that no matter how intricate the process of taxation may become the money always comes out at the same place, the pocket of the taxpayer. The main thing is that the government is getting ready to sweat out approximately a billion dollars' worth of additional revenue. Congress probably won't have the courage to do it all at once, but some kind of a start will be made during the present session. After the election is over, the job will be finished.

Still, it takes a lot of quickness to envy a rich man because he is allowed canaries in his prison cell.

No wonder so many marriages last only a year. By that time the bride is needing more clothes.

Three Years

Three years in the presidency of the United States is the compressed equivalent of a lifetime of ordinary political experience. It's a good guess that no one is more interested in reviewing what has happened since March 4, 1933, than President Roosevelt himself.

Some day curiosity about Mr. Roosevelt's thought and motives may be satisfied by his own autobiography. More interesting than the familiar story of what happened to the country after his election to the presidency would be the story of what happened to Mr. Roosevelt.

Possibly, Mr. Roosevelt would not say anything happened to him, in the sense that circumstances caused him to become different. Yet, it seems improbable that an executive could show so many signs of change unless there actually had been change.

Three years ago Mr. Roosevelt glorified the previously unfilled position of national coordinator. He revived the American spirit. He rallied the nation to his confident, cheerful leadership. Whatever his opponents may say, he caused his inauguration to be the turning point of the depression. The depression still remained after he became president, but most of the despondency it had caused quickly was overcome by popular belief in the nation's ability to find a way out of its difficulties.

It is helpful to recall the spirit of those days at the end of the President's third year. Why did it dwindle and why has it been replaced in so many cases with bitterness and fear? What has happened to Mr. Roosevelt's leadership? What has happened to his attitude, which seems to have changed from confidence in his countrymen to distrust of so many of them? To what extent are such changes caused by forces outside Mr. Roosevelt and to what extent are they caused by the effect of those forces on the President's mind? If questions like these could be answered authoritatively, it would be possible to write a really complete review of the first three years of the Roosevelt new deal and its extraordinary leader.

Scientists are men who prolong life so we can have time to pay for all the gadgets they invent.

A reformer says nine-tenths of our criminals never are punished. Brother, did you ever see a criminal lawyer's bill?

Postlude

On Feb. 9, 1934, an order cancelling all air mail contracts effective midnight Feb. 19 was issued from the White House. It was announced simultaneously that the army air corps would handle air mail pending new contracts.

There followed immediately afterward the events subsequently called the "air mail fiasco." Hot words were exchanged between a presidential secretary and Co. Charles A. Lindbergh. The senate ordered the arrest of William P. McCracken Jr., who had refused to give up air mail contract correspondence.

In the senate a committee headed by Sen. Black attempted to prove that air mail contracts were a disgrace to previous Republican administrations. In all parts of the United States, army aviators, inadequately equipped and unaccustomed to night flying in bad weather, were endangering their lives. Crashes and deaths occurred so frequently that on March 10 the White House instructed the secretary of war to prevent the army air corps from carrying mail, except under conditions which would insure against "constant recurrence of fatal accidents."

In the meantime the department of justice had begun a special investigation of air mail contracts. Col. Carl L. Ristine, a Missouri lawyer, was made a special assistant to the attorney general of the United States for the purpose of finding out everything there was to know about air mail contracts. Apparently, there was plenty of pay dirt, else the contracts never would have been annulled.

It is, therefore, of particular interest that Col. Ristine has finished his investigation. His report, according to authoritative sources, will show there was nothing in air mail contracts to warrant the drastic action taken in 1934. That happens to have been popular judgment in 1934. Apparently, the air mail fiasco is going to have a fitting conclusion.

Disappointed Father

It is becoming painfully plain that the wish for the underdog to get an even break was father to the thought that Ethiopia had a chance to fight Italy on its own terms. There no longer can be any doubt that Marshal Pietro Badoglio is having important success as leader of the Italian army in Africa.

Even discounting reports of Italian victories and Ethiopian retreats, one feels sure that the superiority of the fascist military machine has been established. Obviously, a few victories do not mean the war has been won, but victories are tremendously important in colonial campaigns.

Once the Ethiopians learn to fear the Italians, the latter will have the same advantage which enables the English to maintain discipline throughout great areas with only a handful of soldiers. There is every reason to believe that modern machine guns, armored cars, tanks, airplanes and bombs, together with a well trained army, have made European civilization for Ethiopia a certainty.

Outside of Italy and perhaps even in Italy many persons wanted Ethiopia to repel the invaders. It seemed for a time as though the Italian army was stilled and there still are plenty of opportunities for reverses, but at the moment the tide of battle is running in Italy's favor. Perhaps by the time the beginning of the rainy season stops military operations the campaign will be so far along as to make complete victory certain in 1937.

The wish that Ethiopia might defend itself successfully engendered the thought that it could. Though there is nothing particularly pleasant about Ethiopian government, it commanded sympathy because it was threatened by a stronger foreign government. Italy, the aggressor, couldn't expect sympathy and never received any. Win or lose, Premier Mussolini's soldiers will not be popular as champions of European methods of mechanized slaughter.

Both conservatives and radicals must levy taxes, but the conservative has the grace not to grin about it.

FUSS OVER HAGOOD EPISODE MAY NOT BE IN VAIN

Controversy May Bring Out Truth About Conditions In Army

By DAVID LAWRENCE

(Copyright, 1936, by The Review) WASHINGTON, March 4.—If out of the controversy over Gen. Hagood's testimony comes a constructive solution of the problem of getting the truth about conditions in the army without stepping on the toes of army bureaucrats bent on concealing said truth, then maybe the fuss made over the present episode will not have been entirely futile.

For it is such a turn of events that may be looked for. First of all, there seems little doubt that the entire affair originated in the war department and that the responsibility for what has happened is very largely to be placed on the war department.

In fairness to President Roosevelt, it ought to be stated that nowhere is there any proof of the charge made that he started the controversy out of resentment over Gen. Hagood's comments.

President Approved Action Mr. Roosevelt, of course, approved the war department action which recommended disciplinary action, but it is a safe assumption that he did not know all the facts when he acted for the simple reason that all the data on the case have been dribbling out of Capitol Hill in pieces and only now can a coherent synopsis of the case be made.

It appears that Gen. Hagood testified before the house subcommittee on appropriations on Dec. 17 of last year. About Dec. 30 he received and replied to a letter from Rep. Parks asking him to correct his testimony. He did not do so. This was mistake number one for Gen. Hagood.

Then, early in February, Gen. Hagood learned that his superior officer in the war department were displeased with what he had said and he promptly wired to the house committee and asked that his testimony be eliminated. This was the correct course.

But the message was dated Feb. 2, by which time several copies of the printed hearings had gotten out. The house subcommittee declined to stop the rest of the distribution. This was a mistake on the part of the house subcommittee.

About Feb. 10, the newspapers learned of the testimony and the war department undoubtedly heard from the WPA concerning it. Then came the recommendation by Gen. Craig, chief of staff of the United States army, that Gen. Hagood be disciplined. The secretary of war and the President approved the recommendation.

Since then, members of the house, led by Rep. Blanton of Texas, and members of the senate, including Senators Byrnes and Smith of South Carolina, have been writing the president and the war department pointing out that Gen. Hagood was treated unfairly. Indeed, the statement has been made that the testimony of the house committee was altered by members of the committee so that some of the members' questions were suppressed so that the printed hearings gave an impression that Gen. Hagood on his own initiative said some of the critical things which he said only in response to persistent questions by the committee.

From the foregoing, it would seem that the members of the house subcommittee have done Gen. Hagood an injustice. This aspect is being brought to the attention of President Roosevelt and it would not be surprising to find the President, after further inquiry, reversing the whole business and restoring Gen. Hagood to his command. To do this might seem to reflect on Gen. Craig, who acted, of course on the facts as submitted to him.

Responsibility Where It Belongs How can such episodes be prevented? It would seem possible for the war department to have a rule that all testimony furnished by members of the staff to congressional committees should be sent in duplicate to the witnesses and to the war department for perusal. If any testimony violates army regulations, the responsibility for censoring it would be where it belongs—the war department itself. Otherwise, instances will recur wherein an army officer tries to satisfy the requirements of a legislative committee but finds himself punished or doing his duty before another branch of the government. If members of congress object to the elimination of testimony by the war department, clearly the responsibility would then be on the congress. The army officer who said anything indiscreet could then hardly be held to accountability for it any more than the disclosure of a private conversation between an army officer and his friends discussing current problems in the civilian branch of the government could justly be made the basis for disciplinary action.

NOTES ON OHIO HISTORY

From—

The Galbraith Collection

Varnica was the only name by which men knew a German hermit who lived for many years with a little dog for his only companion, in his cave on the side of a hill on his small farm in Crawford county. He never told of his past life. Before dying at the home of a neighbor, James Wilson, Varnica had frequently spoken in severe criticism of women in general. Some guess that a broken love affair caused him to break away from the world. Thus a development after his death caused surprise. Wilson was designated executor of the estate. He found that the hermit had bored a hole in a post and had dropped gold coins aggregating $2,200 into it. The surprise: Wilson was directed to dispose of the estate by distributing the proceeds among destitute women and children.

OHIO ODDITIES

By R. C. HALL

The "Shakers" is another religious sect in Ohio and differs so much from the larger denominations as to be generally considered queer. The members of this sect call themselves the "United Society of Believers" but are commonly called "Shakers" because of the dancing which forms a part of their worship and sometimes becomes quite noisy. They first appeared in England under the leadership of Anna Lee, the founder of the sect. They did not believe in marriage, held all their goods in common, and ate at a common dining hall. The men wore broadbrimmed hats and the women starched bonnets. In 1805, some "Shakers" settled in Warren county and by 1830, the community owned 4,000 acres of land and numbered 500 members. Other communities appeared but all in Ohio are now extinct.

BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, March 4.—Strange plan from inside the Landon camp (Washington chapter) is that too many people are for him.

Not many politicians suffer from having too many followers, but the Kansas Coolidge does. It seems that a lot of new, near and forgotten Republican authorities around the country are always calling to peka, or that hotel in Kansas City, asking if it's all right to pledge their support publicly.

The answer usually has been to wait awhile. Some repeating callers have obtained permission. Some have acted without permission.

At any rate the Landon people have reason to be far more in fear of their unsolicited friends than their enemies. The bandwagon is becoming overloaded to a point where the axles are in danger.

Competent Washington odds makers consider Landon at this moment an even money bet for the nomination.

Threat

A glint has been noticeable in Sen. Borah's eye lately.

His fellow senators have heard confidently that he is going to start a little intra-Republican hair pulling. The scalp he has his mind on apparently is that of Landon. His pals say he may shortly make a speech tying Landon up with "the interests," whoever they are.

No one will bet on this until it is done. Borah is known to have had a fairly high personal regard for Landon. Yet the Borah campaign has not been going as big on the inside as it has in the headlines. The Idahoan is winning the polls, but likely to lose the election. His popular appeal has not entirely offset such sad technical deficiencies as the lack of organization and of money.

If Borah draws the sword, it means an end of the peaceful contest for the Republican presidential nomination, but not necessarily a bitter-end battle.

Mellon Again

The fresh idea of a tax on undistributed corporation surpluses came from a place you would least expect—under the hat of Vice President Garner. It is an old hobby of his.

The case uppermost in his mind is supposed to be that of Andrew Mellon's Aluminum Co. of America. In fact, Mr. Mellon's name was mentioned specifically when the tax subject was broached at that secret White House tax pow-wow. A corporation now is taxed heavily on undistributed surpluses only if it is trying thus to avoid dividend taxes. The trouble (as Mellon uses) to tell Garner is that the treasury can never prove the avoidance. Consequently the tax is a nullity. The really good tax experts generally oppose taxes along this line. They know it is necessary for corporations to have surpluses to meet lean years. Such a tax now, however, might drive reserves out into expenditures for plant improvements, etc., thus aiding the general business situation.

Passing?

Those who know Georgia politics best seem to agree that the self-made Talmadge tornado is running down. Unless it is wound up again by some unforeseen developments, the New Deal will not even need an umbrella for protection against it.

Indeed, the word is accredited on the inside that Talmadge may resign as a result of his latest state financial plight. His purpose would be thereby to generate new fury from the people.

The truth generally emerges eventually, even in Washington. Latest example: HOLC Head Fahey, in a confidential report to the Senate banking committee, broke down and agreed that HOLC was a substantial disturbance in the home mortgage market. His unpublished report to the committee argues that the disturbance is rapidly disappearing now that HOLC is retiring.

This would never have been admitted when the HOLC bill was up for consideration.

The Fahey report was made in opposition to the Borah bill proposing to reduce HOLC interest rates to 3 percent.

There is no question that the majority of interstate commerce commissioners realized their new rail rate reduction order was probably illegal. They thought it was a good policy and decided to try it anyway. That accounts for the circuitous language of the decision.

NEW YORK NOTES

By O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, March 4.—The society photographer from London, Cecil Beaton, is the sartorial wow of the season in both New York and Palm Beach. A languid, drawing fellow he will focus his camera on only "people who matter" and this commercial snobbery has made him a Mayfair pet.

He can spot such flashy dressers as Goadby Loew the blanket on last year's Derby winner and romp down the home-stretch ahead in the Gaudy Dressers' Sweepstakes. Materials that would redder the cheeks of Broadway's one flight up tailors are worn by him with something of a jolly old dash.

He goes in for three-tone shadings. A chocolate brown coat, an autumn leaf vest and a sand tan pair of pantaloons give the idea. Or perhaps a dinky lapped coat of grass green with a Buster Brown bow. Nothing is too bold by day, but at night he quiets down to conventional dinner jacket.

While Beaton holds first place among the disciples of the livelier patterns, the season's most sedate and correctly dressed honors, according to stylists, go to Tullio Carminati, movie actor. He clings to grays, blues and blacks and ties of single shade. A study in monotone.

Prediction: In four years Shirley Temple will be devastatingly enchanting. Girls of 10 are at the optimum of charm, and she will never have to lay off like Jackie Coogan until she grows up. She'll win-right through the awkward age, too, and be the rarest box office treasure, a feminine comedian. At 6 she has the art of timing to perfection, and her acting already is the smoothest legato on the screen. An actress who doesn't need lines is a miracle. And Shirley doesn't.

Jimmy Powers, the comedian of a thousand snows, and a small jury of actors were discussing at The Players what actress of the day past 40 could best play the role of a girl of 16. All agreed upon Jane Cowie.

A haberdasher tells me of a suspender splendor so frequently evidenced among patrons. Often men who buy dollar ties and ready-made shirts will let themselves go, blooey, blooey, in galluses. But usually the guild is composed of tony dressers. The late Reginald Vanderbilt was one. Not only were his especially designed but trimmings were pure gold and often jeweled. One pair in especial represented an outlay of $300 complete. Actors, notably the matinee idol types, go in for the expensive creations that range from $8 to $15.

Now that most of the critical opinion has been spent, I feel I can limp in with a belated opinion without starting a row. That is about the Charlie Chaplin picture. The feeding machine gear near the beginning of Modern Times is the grandest diaphragmatic laugh ever shown on the screen. But the rest, while not inspiring wrist watch glances, struck me as a so-so resume of the usual and slightly shopworn Chaplin formula. To my action as caught the ethos of modern times for a little while and then let it go. Yet he is never dull. And is a genius with courage.

Neal O'Hara, scampering to a train for Boston and a bit late, inquired of a Grand Central red cap: "That train to Boston hasn't moved yet, has it?" The red cap replied: "No sir, but she's twitchin'." (Copyright, 1936, by The McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

The Five Babies Are Well DR. DAFOR, modest man from Canada, who understands quintuplets, dropped in to say the five little girls are doing well, fighting frequently, sign of a normal condition. They like sleeping outdoors with the weather 30 below zero, but in day time only. It would delight you to see their red cheeks.

Three hundred and seventy-five thousand visitors, nearly all from the United States, came to look through a fence at the quintuplets last year. The baby girls are a wonderful advertisement for Canada. Many that go to see them will buy farms and stags.

Democratic Edward VIII A DEMOCRATIC young person is Edward the Eighth, new king of England and emperor of India. Broadcasting to 200,000,000 that live under the British flag and occupy one-quarter of the earth's surface, he does not refer to them as "my subjects" or "my people," as his predecessor did, but calls them "fellow-men."

And Edward the Eighth does not refer to himself as "we," which is customary with other rulers. His father spoke of "my empire" and "my dear people" and called himself "we."

Before broadcasting the king had visited the exhibition of British industries at Olympia, talking to industrialists and merchants. He is a business king, and to him business men are really human beings, important to the country in which they work.

Mussolini Winding Up MUSSOLINI seems to near the end of his labors in Ethiopia. Haile Selassie's territory lies open between the Italian forces and that of Addis Ababa, his armies are pretty well wiped out, except his private army, not expected to do much but take care of him.

Unless the League of Nations does something very decisive, the slave-dealing enterprise called "Ethiopian civilization" will probably change its ways and its government.

An authority, usually reliable, suggests that Haile Selassie will abdicate, turn over his throne to his son, the Crown Prince, who will make peace with Italy, thus "saving the face" of Haile Selassie.

Panama Gets Gold UNCLE SAM, paying rent to Panama for the canal, offering the usual $250,000 rent installment, was told:

"No, we do not take 59-cent dollars."

Washington admits that, while it may be interesting experiments with its own money, and tell its own citizens "gold is too good for you," it has no right to make the outside world suffer.

Panama will get an amount of money equal to 250,000 of our dollars before we slide off the gold basis and into the "inflation bond" era.

Power in Ideas GREAT POWER is an idea. Our religious ancestors thought the devil could be terrified out of his wits by the sign of the cross; that made him writhe in agony.

Japanese, believing that the Mikado descends from the great sun-goddess, think him all powerful; even to think disobediently concerning him is a crime.

Minous soldiers in Tokio defied Japan's army with its machine gun and jauman and the great guns of the battle fleet. They yield, return to duty, when a war plane drops within their reach the message.

"His majesty, the emperor, orders you to return to your barracks."

Well may the Japanese ambassador at Washington, Hiroshi Satou, broadcast the statement.

"Among Japanese are few indeed, if any, who are disloyal to the emperor."

Ambassador Satou says the outbreak of war in Japan is due to hard times, and suspicion that "the cabinet and the government" have been influenced by big business and other private interests and corrupted. A sad short Japanese poem by Takunoku, an unhappy young Japanese poet, that many Japanese learn by heart, reads:

"I work, I work as best I can, Yet for all that My living Is none the better— Blankly I gaze at my hands."

Some of the 10,000,000 idle here might memorize that little poem.

More Submarines for Stalin STALIN of Russia adopts the late Theodore Roosevelt's "Deeds" not words.

While other countries discuss events in Tokio, Stalin hastily send twenty-five more "knocked-down" submarines to his Russian base at Vladivostok, aimed at Japan.

Stalin already had a great flock of fighting airplanes there and many submarines. Twenty-five more will help.

80,000 More Planes MOSCOW'S government urges every factory and collective farm to train at least one airplane pilot—or parachute jumper—each year. Stalin would have "one trained aviator for every 1,000 inhabitants," or, for all Russia, 165,000 trained fliers. That, you might call "flying program."

If Stalin could provide one plane for every two of his 165,000 pilots, he would have more than 80,000 airplanes, and would make the world listen.

Eighty thousand airplanes, economically manufactured, able to carry poison gas and bombs through the stratosphere at 500 miles an hour, Moscow to London in morning—need not cost more than ten great battleships.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rar! to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. The bile is your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks pink.

Laxatives are only makeshifts. A more powerful movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those gross, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

Natural iodine in Kelpamalt, New Mineral Concentrate, Must Correct Trouble With Tired, Careworn, Haggard-Looking Folks the First Week and Add 5 Lbs. or the Trial is Free!

As the result of tests covering thousands of weakened, run-down, nervous, skinny folks, science now claims that it is GLANDS STARVING for IODINE that keep you pale, tired-out, underweight and nervous.

When these glands don't work properly, all the food in the world can't help you. It just isn't turned into flesh, new strength and energy.

The most important gland—the one which actually controls body weight—is a definite source of iodine all the time—NATURAL AS AVAILABLE IODINE—not to be confused with chemical iodides which often prove toxic. Only when the system gets an adequate supply of iodine can you regulate metabolism—the body's process of converting digested foods into firm flesh, new strength and energy.

FEDERAL TENDER SERVICES RIVER CHANNEL LIGHTS

Lighthouse Vessel Resumes Trip In District After Cumberland Delay

FAR BEHIND SCHEDULE

U. S. Engineers to Open Bids March 14 For Pumps For Two Dredge Boats

All government channel lights in the East Liverpool district on the Ohio river, most of which are electrically operated, were serviced Tuesday by the United States light-house tender Greenbrier, which resumed its semi-annual trip up-stream after being delayed at New Cumberland, W. Va., by ice and high water for more than a month.

Off To Allegheny, Monongahela The boat, which left Cincinnati late last fall, will be far behind schedule making the round trip, which includes inspection of all light signals on the Allegheny and Monongahela rivers. Batteries supplying the electricity for each marker, as well as bulbs and other equipment, are tested.

United States engineers in charge of this district will open bids March 14 for two horizontal duplex pumps to be installed on the government dredge boats Beaver and Allegheny, engaged in local channel operations. Delivery must be made within 60 days after the contract is awarded.

The General Contracting Corp. has placed its dredge Pelican on the Neville Island marine ways for overhauling. It will be put to work on channel excavation as soon as the improvements are completed.

Scarcity of towboats owing to the rush of delayed shipping was marked today when Pittsburgh insurance companies were unable to charter a craft to transport a derrickboat to raise several sunken crafts near Beaver. A concrete mixer was recently sunk near Neville Island.

The Wheeling Steel Corp. will temporarily purchase coal from mines in the third pool, Allegheny river, since lock No. 2 is closed to permit the building of a miter all. The steamers LaBelle and Carbon are towing coal to Steubenville.

The B. F. Fairless and Edgar Thompson were locked through dam No. 8 here Tuesday with 15 empty barges, and the Shawnee with one of fuel oil.

FARCICAL RACE TRACK STORY KEEPS CERAMIC AUDIENCE IN UPROAR

City Gets First Good Laugh Since Depression Days

East Liverpool had its first good laugh since the depression Tuesday night at the Ceramic theater when "Three Men on a Horse" was presented by Alex Yokel.

It was a continuous howl from curtain to curtain, and the mirth was not the smirking behind-glass variety, but side-splitting guffaws that started ankle deep.

Popular hit-tunes were played by the Ceramic orchestra while the patrons were catching their breath between acts, and all in all it was an hilarious evening. A revolving stage, which proved highly satisfactory for quick changes of scenery, added to the effect and kept the action moving at a fast pace.

Although presented by an all-New York cast, there was not a single prominent star in the lot, but all were seasoned troupers and seemed especially adapted to their part.

By virtue of the fact that much of the comedy hinged on a gesture, a look or an amusing situation, it is rather difficult to bring out the essence of the play in cold type.

True Type Race Track Story A race track story of the first water, it was given by a cast of true-to-type characterizations backing up a good plot. Necessarily, its lines were a bit racy in spots.

Chester Clute as Erwin Trowbridge, the extremely hen-pecked husband and greeting-card writer with a knack for making unerring mental bets on the ponies, was as real in his part as next month's rent. And who is Chester Clute? One guess is as good as another. He was never heard of before in this corner and probably never will be again—but he was good.

Because his wife wrongfully suspects him of philandering after finding a notebook in his pocket with horses listed, which she mistakes for women's names, he takes to Scotch. More than somewhat under the influence, he stumbles into the barroom of a frowny off-Broadway hotel and falls in with three men who are down to their last $12 and desperate to get on a horse with something like a payoff bet.

Of the trio, Sheldon Leonard as Patsy, the brains of the outfit, was by far the outstanding actor, and that goes for the entire cast, too. A strapping six-footer, he stomped about the barroom on his heels, swelled his chest and talked through his nose in mimic of the race track tout, as he bossed the rest of the hangers-on, much to the delight of the audience.

Frankie and Charlie, Edward Colebrook and Frank Otto, his stooges, jump at his every command and set about to make things comfortable for Edwin when they discover he can "dope" the races, although never having the courage to place a bet himself. Erwin wants to get to the office to write his verses for Mother's day but the touts are determined he shall stay, and then the fun begins.

Kept Confined To Hotel Room They succeed in keeping him confined to a hotel room long enough to clean up on three races and then prepare for a four-hour parley, despite the fact his neurotic wife is frantically searching for him. Erwin picks Mr. Khayyam to win and to make certain he is not being double-crossed, Patsy makes the former bet all his earnings on the horse, while he and his two pals place $11,000.

Well, Equipoise wins, and as the domineering Patsy walked into the room and pulled himself to his full height before the covering Erwin you could have heard a pin drop in the theater. As Patsy strikes Erwin and removes his coat to administer a further shoo-lacking a flash comes over the radio that Equipoise was disqualified and Mr. Khayyam wins. Then the human worm turns and Erwin stands on his tip-toes to land a sock on Patsy's jaw.

An excellent characterization as the flighty you-don't-love-me-anymore wife of Erwin was given by Elaine Temple, while another type role was presented with finesse by Marjorie as Mabel, Patsy's hard-boiled sweetheart. Byron Shores as Harry, the bartender, and Edward F. Nannery as Mr. Carver, Erwin's employer, were well cast.

The dialogue was brittle throughout and the direction astute, at the same time offering a sly moral that it doesn't always pay to play the goats—unless you've got an Edwin Trowbridge in hock.—W. L. W.

COMING ATTRACTIONS IN THE THEATERS

STATE

"Bring 'Em Back Alive" Frank Buck, whose name has become a household word, has recently returned from an expedition to the Malay Peninsula and northern India, bringing with him a new bagful of cinematic thrills. From the more than 20 miles of film exposed he has produced his third feature picture, "Fang and Claw," said to be not only a worthy successor to his two preceding ones, but also radically different in many respects. It will be shown at the State theater starting Thursday.

"Fang and Claw" evokes thrills by a rapid succession of hair-raising escapes and breath-taking struggles between man and animal, both in pursuit and capture.

One of the highlights is a hair-raising pursuit of a native by a ravenously hungry man-eating tiger, an enormous beast that lurked in the wild fastnesses of the Sakai country. Stalking its unsuspecting prey through the dense jungle, the great feline cat follows the native to his native hut, and it is here that the excitement mounts in a furious crescendo. As the tiger bounds through the open door, the man dives out through the window, and the beast follows him. The native races madly for a nearby tree, the tiger close behind him. A mighty spring misses its mark by a matter of inches, and the frightened native climbs the tree in panic with almost superhuman agility. That the tiger follows him up the trunk and forces him out to the very tip of one of the limbs goes without saying. The climax comes when Frank Buck interferes and provides what is said to be a distinct surprise.

Another tiger episode depicts the capture of the largest species ever seen in the Malay country. A giant crocodile is caught in a highly novel manner, its jaws being tied by Buck, while it is still in its native element.

Wild monkeys of many different species are caught in various ways, and a large herd of rare antelope is added to Buck's unique collection by a mass set-up of snares.

"Fang and Claw" is said to contain a plentiful number of comedy sequences, several of which depict the antics of those natural clowns, the monkeys, and the honey bears. Two enormous pythons, each about 28 feet in length, are captured under difficult conditions, one of them being caught by Buck bare-handed.

COLUMBIA

Eight outstanding film favorites are featured in "The Preview Murder Mystery," exciting melodrama which opens Thursday at the Columbia theater. They are Reginald Denny, Frances Drake, Gail Patrick, Rod LaRoque, George Barbier, Ian Keith, Conway Tearle and Jack Mulhall.

The octet of stars head a large cast which brings to the screen one of the weirdest and most thrilling mystery pictures of months—a melodrama whose action takes place in a motion-picture studio, where a fiend roams at large for days, leaving a bloody trail of deaths behind him before he is finally trapped and brought to justice.

The story opens at the preview of a new movie. The star of the picture has been threatened with death, but most of his friends believe it a publicity stunt. But as the preview closes, and crowds surge forward to congratulate the star, they find him dead—of poison.

As police and the studio publicity chief open an investigation, filming of another feature gets underway. In the first scene, a pistol is fired at the girl star—but instead of containing blanks, as it is supposed to, it has real bullets! Fortunately, the shots go wild—but as hysteria sweeps through the stages, a studio policeman is found dead.

Police suspicion turns to a prominent director, but when the officers go to question him, they find he is but the latest victim. His body is found hanging from a beam!

The entire studio is padlocked. No one is permitted either to enter or leave. Those interned are in a frenzy of fear, not knowing when or whom the fiend will strike next. What follows, as their nerves become more tense and frayed, and as the investigation proceeds, brings the story to a breathlessly exciting climax.

The film, which was directed by Robert Florey, is from the Paramount studio.

ROTARIANS HERE OBTAIN CLINICAL AID FOR 60 TOTS

Crippled Children Movement
Lauded In Luncheon Talk
By City School Nurse

COOPERATES IN PLANS
Urges Club Members To Act
As 'Big Brothers' And Advise Recreation

The East Liverpool Rotarians have assisted in obtaining state aid as well as providing transportation for more than 60 crippled children here, who are now receiving care and treatment by specialists at a Youngstown clinic, Miss Evelyn Frederick, school nurse, told club members at a luncheon in the Travelers' hotel Tuesday.

Miss Frederick was introduced by Raymond S. Buzzard, chairman of the crippled children's work committee, who explained she had been cooperating in the club program along with her school duties. She has been engaged in the work since 1929.

The nurse lauded the organization for the part it was playing in the movement and told of many cures and improvements that had been effected for children of ages 5 and 18.

Weekly Trips Are Made

She said it was necessary to make weekly trips with the children to the Mahoning county seat, some requiring treatment as often as twice a week and others at various intervals up to every six weeks. When it is necessary to keep a child in the institution, he or she is given every care, even a school teacher tutoring daily.

Miss Frederick explained that most cases were a result of tuberculosis of the bone or infantile paralysis and cited individual cases to show the needs and what was being accomplished. Several have been almost wholly cured, while progress is being made in the treatment by others, it was pointed out.

"These children are not mentally crippled, however," Miss Frederick said, "and it is our intention not only to correct their physical defects as far as possible, but to assist them in learning a suitable profession whereby they may become independent and even help others."

Welfare Recreational Plan Urged

She told of programs being carried out by Rotary clubs in other sections of the state and recommended that members of the club here become "big brothers" to the children by investigating their home conditions and environment, and seeing that they were given proper attention.

A recreational program, especially adapted to crippled children, was also suggested, and activities of the welfare department in financing the costs of carrying on the work explained.

Marry-Go-Round

BY MARY ROWLAND

These Modern Lovers
Some husbands won't let the little woman pick up a scrap with them, because they suspect it will cost too much (in orchids or diamonds) to make the peace.

Time will heal anything except a woman's aversion for the man who failed to fall in love with her, and a man's distaste for the woman who stayed in love with him too long.

No woman wants to join a debating society when she marries but a perfectly non-committal husband is about as companionable and exciting around the house as a marble bust of Dante on the mantel piece.

Next to your first proposal and your final divorce papers, says Reno Ruth, nothing seems to be so slow coming as a letter from the man you're thinking about.

The next generation is going to miss lots of beautiful heirlooms from among "Mother's wedding gifts," because they got smashed during the honeymoon arguments.

A woman enjoys a party better if she's the best dressed woman there; but a man never cares what the other men look like because nothing can ruffle his faith in his own innate charm.

Foolish people die of pneumonia, trying to save carfare for a rainy day. Wise people mortgage the future in order to take time off for a little love and leisure in the present.

A woman never discovers how many wrong roads there are in the world until she goes on a motor trip with a strong, silent man who is too proud to ask the way.

Nothing fills a man with such an inferiority complex as to be caught taking down the portieres and carrying them out on the back porch.

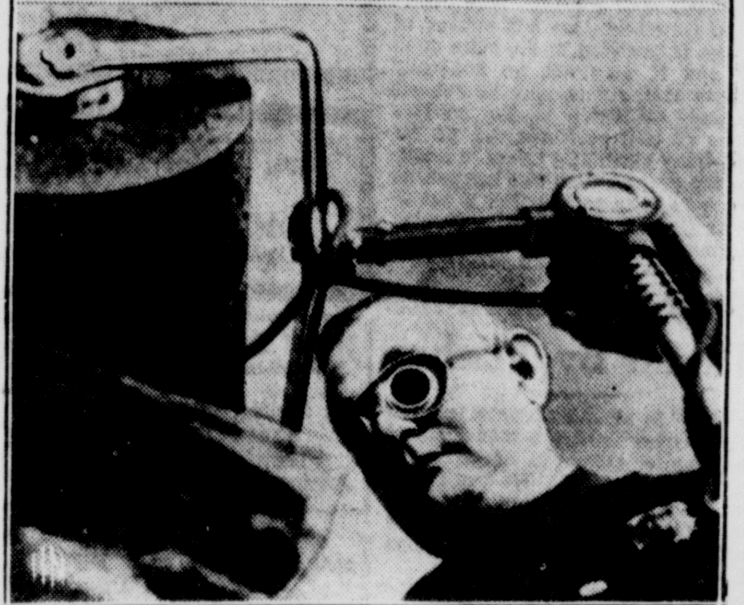

A girl doesn't have to know all the newest dance steps if she knows all the latest ways to clutch her partner around the collar.

Georgetown

A family reunion was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew H. McHaffie Saturday celebrating the 80th birthday anniversary of Mr. McHaffie. Although but 80 years of age, Mr. McHaffie has had but 19 birthdays.

Mr. McHaffie was born in Georgetown, Feb. 29, 1856, and has spent his entire life here. He and Mrs. McHaffie will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary on April 14. The evening was spent in games and music. A chicken dinner was served at 6. Mr. McHaffie was the recipient of a number of birthday gifts and cards.

Covers were arranged for Mrs. J. B. Montgomery of Pittsburgh; Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Pepper of Wells; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sault and family of East Liverpool; Miss Eria McHaffie of Monaca; Mr. and Mrs. James P. McHaffie and family; Mr. and Mrs. Donald McHaffie and family; Gail and Gilbert McHaffie of Georgetown and Mrs. Anna Dolby of Chester, a sister of Mrs. McHaffie.

Mrs. Albert Carlson entertained at a 12 o'clock dinner Sunday celebrating the birthday anniversaries of her daughter, Maxine and John Ogren. Covers were arranged for Mr. and Mrs. John Ogren and sons, Carl and Vincent of Midland, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Carlson and daughter, Maxine and Ina and Kathleen Fettes.

Miss Emma Mackall spent the week-end with her sister, Mrs. Peter Cebula of Chester.

Recent visitors in Georgetown included Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hogar and family of McDonald, Pa., and Mr. and Mrs. Edward McHale of Pittsburgh with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hogan; Miss Virginia Wright of East Liverpool, with her cousin, Miss Viola Wright; Albert Kinsey of South Hills, Pa., with his mother, Mrs. Mary E. Kinsey; Joseph Mitchell of East Liverpool with John Mackall; Misses Kate and Harriet Miller of Chester with their aunt, Miss Harriet Todd; Dennis and Robert Schmidt of East Liverpool with local friends.

Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Pryor and daughter Cora and Miss Mary Scott of East Liverpool visited Sunday with John Richards, who is a patient in the Canfield sanatorium.

Mrs. Lillian Laughlin and son Sam and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Carlson spent Friday with the former's daughter, Mrs. Samuel Huttmacher in Sebring.

Miss Louise Finley is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Smith Shinton, in East Liverpool.

George Brown of Midland is visiting Thomas Bryan.

Columbiana

The Young Ladies Bible class of the Presbyterian church will meet tonight in the home of Mrs. Clarence Koch with Mrs. Ralph Irons as associate hostess. Election of officers for the year, beginning April 1, will be featured.

The Women's Foreign Missionary society of the Methodist Episcopal church met Tuesday night in the home of Mrs. David S. Lamb. Mrs. Solon Morris was in charge of the devotions and Mrs. Harry Gilmore directed the program.

Mrs. Walter D. Young has been removed to her home here after being confined in the Salem City hospital for about 10 days.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Roller spent the week end with relatives in Akron.

—Three Minute Journeys— Tourist Finds Beauty Along British Coast

Northeastern Part of Isle
Abounds in Antiquity
And Loveliness

By TEMPLE MANNING

RECENTLY THE attention of the world has been focused on a little village, Dersingham, on the northeast coast of England, near which stands Sandringham, the beautiful home of English royalty. For, despite Buckingham palace, grim fortress-like Windsor and Balmoral in Scotland, the pretty ivory-covered manor house means all that the word "home" implies to all of us, commoner or royalty. Standing in lovely grounds with its gamekeepers' lodges, its pretty, little gray stone church, its winding walks, it is the typical fine English country house, of which there are many in this part of England.

Cambridge Has History

East Anglia, which takes in northeastern England, is well worth the attention of the traveler in search of beauty and antiquity. Journeying northward through eastern England, the first and most important stop is Cambridge, the home of one of the world's most famous universities, with its forty colleges, each of which boasts a thrilling history. Particularly well worth seeing is the exquisite Tudor chapel of King's college; Oliver Cromwell's rooms in Sidney Sussex college, also Christ college where Milton was educated. The gateway to St. John's college is superb, so are the flower and tree-filled grounds in which it stands.

The Backs is surely one of the loveliest river scenes that one can ever glimpse; indeed the whole place is poetic. No wonder that Cambridge has played schoolmaster to such notable poets as Edmund Spenser, Milton, Lord Byron, William Wordsworth, Sir Philip Sidney, John Herrick, Gray, Dryden, Lord Tennyson, right down to Houseman of "Shropshire Lad" fame and the war poet, Rupert Brooke.

The Fen country round Cambridge is very flat but still mighty interesting. This part of England is a land of fine cathedrals. Within a few miles of Cambridge, stand, a little above the Fen country, the noble turrets and slender spires of

A view of historic Windsor Castle, near London.

Ely cathedral, Lincoln cathedral and a little farther to the east, that of Norwich. Norwich is the county seat of Norfolk wherein is situated Sandringham house. The shopkeepers in Norwich, particularly the antique shops, are all familiar with the stately figure of Queen Mary, who does a lot of shopping there.

Norwich is a delightful spot, a medieval city that is somehow quite different from anywhere else. From the parapet of the lovely old Norman castle one looks down on 40 ancient churches, all of them mellow and lovely. One can stay at a comfortable inn that was patronized 500 years ago. The city houses are exceptionally handsome and remind one of the days of the prosperous Flemish wool merchants who once lived there. Norfolk county itself is rich in farms set in lovely, undulating farm country.

Hammondsville

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Grafton of Hammondsville have announced the recent marriage of their daughter, Eria to James Malia of Mammouth, Pa. They will make their home near Uniontown, where the bridegroom is employed.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Plunkett and family of Wellsville have removed to the Tice property here. The Parent-Teachers' association will meet in the school Thursday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Hetherington and son Charles of Salineville spent Sunday with Mrs. Marion McLain, who is recovering from a recent appendix operation in the home of her father, C. W. Stewart.

M. J. Hull and daughter Anna of Summitville visited their aunt Mrs. Bell Grafton, who is recovering from a month's illness, Sunday. Mrs. Lena Tice of Knoxville occupied the pulpit of the local Methodist Episcopal church Sunday morning in the absence of Rev. J. D. Kellar who is ill.

The Sunlit Road

BY TOM T. JONES

The recent high river, caused by thawing weather, rains and the ice gorge near Vanport serves to recall the flood in March 1902, when the Ohio river reached a stage of 40 feet at the Broadway wharf boat. This was just four feet less than the 44 foot crest reached by the river during the memorable flood of 1884, the most disastrous on record.

It was at 5 a. m. on Sunday March 1, 1902, that the river reached its crest in East Liverpool. The C. C. Thompson, Harker, Globe and Chetwynd & Wallace potteries along the River road were closed by the high water. Farther down the river the old Murphy plant on the site of the present Peter Milliron coal yards, the Faulk Brothers flour mill, and the Brunt and Cartwright Brothers potteries also were flooded.

The street cars on the River road line ceased operation early Saturday. Service to Wellsville also was suspended at 6 p. m. The municipal pump station, then located along the river band near the electric light plant continued operation until 5 a. m. on Saturday, Feb. 28, when the rising water reached the machinery and the building was abandoned.

The water in the reservoir was running low and on Saturday night the coal burning fire engine from the Central fire station was taken to the foot of Market street and water pumped from the river into a fire hydrant forcing water back into the reservoir. The fire engine was kept in service until the flood water had receded sufficiently to permit resumption of operations in the River road pump station.

The last train to operate over the Cleveland and Pittsburgh division through East Liverpool was the west-bound train on Saturday at 3:50 p. m., when the water reached the tracks at several places along the lowlands. Residents of Jethro moved their furniture from the first to the second floor. As the river continued to rise, backing the water into the lowlands, the house roofs soon became the only places of refuge for the occupants.

Controlled FIRE

To condense the steam from "Controlled Fires" requires a lot of water. Condensing water used in the generation of electricity to serve our customers would provide a water supply sufficient for five times the population we serve.

The OHIO POWER Co.

Only a small part of all the electricity in the country comes from water power. Most of it is made from steam. A steam power plant uses an enormous amount of water and must be located on an ample water supply.

The average family uses about 50 kilowatt-hours of electricity a month. To make that much current takes about 25 tons of condensing water.

Multiply the number of families we serve by 25 tons and you will have some idea of the amount of water that is needed in a steam power plant each month to produce electricity for domestic customers alone.

This is the second of a series of advertisements presenting the people behind your electric switch

Ewing's Market
Handles Full Line of Products

Many of the stores have been located in this community for a considerable length of time, which is always sure proof of the satisfaction provided. C. W. Ewing, conducting Ewing's Corner market at 175 Carolina avenue, Chester, combines a stock of meats, groceries, school supplies, candies, cigars and tobacco as well as household drugs, so that the housewife need hardly depend on any other source for her daily needs.

With a daily delivery service in East Liverpool in addition to Chester, Ewing's have a complete line of dairy products which includes butter, cheese, eggs, milk, buttermilk, cream and cottage cheese. Baked goods, shelf groceries and meats are complemented with a line of fresh fruits and vegetables in season.

The poultry which is kept in season, can be relied upon to be tender and according to specifications. The oysters which may be purchased at Ewing's will come in as particularly delicate dishes, now that Lent is practically here. A record of 25 years of service is not to be scorned and the babies which were brought up on groceries from Ewing's, are following in Mother's footsteps and now ordering their food daily from the same grocer.

Latest Music Hits Found at Kinney's

The music continues to go "round and round" and much of it in East Liverpool emanates from the Kinney Music shop at 104 East Sixth street. Joseph Kinney, himself a piano instructor, keeps a large supply for teachers of music.

Ukuleles or other musical instruments will be obtained by Mr. Kinney on order. Always, however, popular, classical and sacred music may be obtained at this establishment, as well as folios, strings, reeds, banjo mutes, instrument cases and similar necessities for the musician.

All the latest show hits and popular music arrives at Kinney's as soon as possible so that entertainers and others who want to be "in the swim" in a musical way, do not have to rely on radio personalities to learn the words and tone of these numbers.

Not only will Mr. Kinney obtain any musical instrument desired, but he will arrange for instruction on any and all instruments in addition to giving lessons on the piano himself.

Delicious Italian
Food at Martino's

With Italian imported products so difficult to obtain now, a grocery store like Martino's at 1008 Pennsylvania avenue is doubly appreciated. A mere matter like "war in Ethiopia" does not curb the appetite for most Americans for a frequent Italian dinner, made in their own kitchen. The macaroni, cheese, olive oil, tomato paste, and similar ingredients necessary to the success of such an occasion, all may be purchased at Martino's.

For the past six years, fine groceries and dairy products as well as cold cuts and fresh meats, have been on sale at Martino's. Concern Fashions
Fitting Memorials

Graham and Wagner, Inc., corner of Third and Washington streets are equipped to furnish stones priced according to tastes and pocketbook. If an elaborate memorial monument is desired, Graham and Wagner can furnish designs and suggestions or will provide the articles according to specifications. If the memorial is to be small and unobtrusive, just as much care will be used in the selection and appropriateness of the stone and design as for the more conspicuous pieces.

Jesse R. Vernon is manager of the concern which has been furnishing cemetery memorials since 1912. Granite, marble and bronze are the materials most in demand. Of these, the better known brands are carried. Rock of Ages, Colorado Yule marble and Westerly, Ruby Red granite. Georgia and Balfour Pink granites. Other materials may be obtained if specially requested.

All transportation and setting of stones is included in the price quoted and it may not be generally known that stones may be set out as early as March 15. For convenience as well as sentiment, no undue delay should be taken in marking the grave of one who has passed away. Lasting satisfaction is assured if Graham and Wagner furnish the memorial piece.

Best Photographs Taken by Fischer

There is an old Chinese proverb that carries the truth that some of the smaller things in life turn out to be the greatest. We can't help but think they had in mind a good photograph—just a keepsake today but one of our dearest possessions later on.

We particularly have in mind the high school seniors of this community because now is the time graduation photographs should be made. Whether it is realized or not, commencement is a point in life that is entirely different and, in many ways, more important than any other period.

Following commencement, the senior usually either goes to work, perhaps in some other town, or enters college. The loved ones appreciate a portrait and the graduate himself will want a good picture of his school day chums.

The Fischer studio on East Fifth street has been a leader in the making of truly excellent photographs for many years. These pictures catch the subject at his best and are ones that he will be proud to give and to receive.

A visit to the studio, with its display of beautiful portraits in the reception room and the latest improved lights and other equipment in the camera room, will convince anyone of the exceptionally high quality of work turned out by the establishment.

It is urged that all seniors arrange for their sittings early as the time is growing short and delay may mean disappointment on the time of delivery of photographs.

McLaughlin's Drug Stores Convenient

Whether you reside in East Liverpool or in Wellsville, the same courteous and dependable service will be accorded you in supplying your drug needs at either of the McLaughlin pharmacies. One is located next to the postoffice in Wellsville and may be reached by telephoning 55-R. The North Side pharmacy, also operated by W. B. McLaughlin may be reached by telephoning East Liverpool 574.

Both stores are modern and up to date and carry a complete line of cosmetics, perfumery, hospital supplies, shaving equipment and smoker's supplies. Each has a soda fountain where refreshing beverages are dispensed or ice cream may be taken out. Their kodak developing and refitting service is also a convenience offered customers of both communities.

Buying power of each store is increased by the combination of the two stores so that the saving is passed on to the customers in many ways. A more complete line of most products may also be carried by Mr. McLaughlin's operating the two pharmacies. Prescriptions are a specialty of both concerns which sell and use all nationally advertised drugs.

LINDELL VERSUS DIXON SETUP FOR POTTER'S INITIAL TOURNEY TILT

Blue and White Cage Mentor Must Match Wits With Former Boss—Bellaire Outfit Coming Along Nicely—Installed as Darkhorse Team at Tiltonville

The Potters versus Bellaire! Howard Lindell versus Tom Dixon!

That's the set up tomorrow night as the Blue and White puts in its first bid for state recognition in opening the tournament wars at Tiltonville.

Down-river today Tom Dixon, who guided the cage destinies of East Liverpool teams for five years and did a mighty fine job of it, is sharpening his wits to see a possible chance of stopping the Potters from doing just what he wanted them to do for five successive years, win the sectional and district championships.

Up here, Lindell, his successor is putting the finishing touches on his preparations to upset Tom Dixon's outfit, the main stumbling block in East Liverpool's path toward Dennison.

Two Different Strategies While it is a case of former assistant versus the old boss it is not necessarily pupil versus teacher. Lindell assisted Dixon last year in mapping out Potter cage strategy but this year has instituted a new style of play. Dixon was of the break school whereas Lindell has seen fit to institute the slashing, driving fast-breaking offense and with it has led his team to a most successful season which saw it winning 18 of 21 games.

Dixon has been employing the fast break to some extent this year so it is hard to tell at this point just what will happen in tomorrow night's affair.

Taking it from any direction the Potters will have no easy task downing Bellaire. If they play the type of basketball they have exhibited here on more than a few occasions they should do the trick. But you can't always rely on such a thing as that.

Bellaire has won eight of 14 games and while five teams in the district can boast better records the down-river quintet may well be installed as the dark horse in the tournament. Ten of those 14 games were played with district teams and Bellaire won six and lost four for the fourth best average of the tournament teams in playing amongst themselves.

Very Little Expected The thing about Bellaire that has been causing the most dismay to local supporters as they survey the situation is the way Dixon has been bringing the team along. When Dixon took charge down-river at the start of the season he was faced with what might be considered the most miserable outlook for which any coach could ask. Bellaire's record last year was pretty terrible. Little was expected this year.

The Bellaire cagers won only one game of their first four but after that they started moving along in nice style. Slowly and steadily they built themselves up and without any ostentation moved over the 500 percentage mark until finally they began to be regarded as a formidable outfit.

They have won three of their last four games. Martins Ferry, Tiltonville and St. Clairsville, three tournament teams, were those defeated. The loss was to Union of Benwood, W. Va., one of the strongest teams in the Wheeling district. They only lost that tilt by six points.

Followers of basketball tournament play know that a team like this is best fitted for the concentrated cage wars. Often times teams which reach their peak during the season start to slide backwards toward the end of the race and if they face tough competition in the tournament are much more liable to bog down than one which "comes along" during the season improving with each game to reach its high mark in the final games. Such a team is Bellaire and that is why it may be considered better than an outside chance of stopping the favored Potters.

Slump Beneficial

From all appearances the Potters still may be on the upgrade. The slump encountered by them several weeks ago may prove to be a Godsend in the tournament play. Just before they hit Weirton they were moving along at top speed and had they continued they undoubtedly would have reached their high peak before the season closed. As it is they have bogged down and had to start building up again. This they have been doing and taking the last two or three games they seem to be still "coming along." They have plenty of basketball ability and much of it has not been taxed to the utmost. Tomorrow night will start to tell the tale.

The game is the first on the slate for tomorrow night. It will get under way at 6:30. The Tiltonville basketball floor is on the stage of the auditorium which contains 1,000 permanent seats. Additional seats will be available if needed. Admission for everyone is 35 cents. There are no reserved seats as the setup is such that a clear and close view can be obtained from any seat in the house.

Pittsburgh Pirate Personalities

Probably the best dressed boy on the Pittsburgh Pirates is Guy T. Bush. Guy is as particular about his clothes off the field as he is about his pitching on the field and, consequently, looks good both on and off the diamond. Bush is a genuine southerner. He was born at Aberdeen, Miss., and remained in the south until the big league reached out and grabbed him. Now he lives in Chicago, but no one need hear more than a few words from his lips to know that his removal to the north has not cast off the southern twang in his voice.

Militarism to Baseball When Guy was 15 years old he entered a military school at Tupelo, Miss., thinking he might become a soldier. This was just at the close of the World War when all young men were thinking of being soldiers. But in school he was picked for the baseball squad and, as he had a lot of speed and a good arm, he made good as a pitcher which changed his mind from militarism to baseball. He spent four years in the school, pitching for the team each year, and by the close of his school days had grown tall and strong and made such an impression that he was picked up by the Greenville club of the old Cotton States League, that was in 1923. Jack Doyle, veteran scout of the Chicago Cubs, was looking things over in that region when this tall, dark complexioned pitcher caught his eye. So well did Bush show his wares that he was purchased by the Cubs for delivery at the close of the 1923 season. However, the league went on the rocks of financial impotency in mid-season and Guy was called to Chicago at once. Lack of experience resulted in his being farmed out for seasoning.

More Seasoning In the spring of 1924 the Cubs took him to their Catalina, Calif., training camp and started him off as a member of the regular hurling staff, but Manager Joe McCarthy decided to give him a little more tutoring in the minors, and he was optioned to Wichita Falls in the Texas league, where he won nine and lost only three games, which accomplishment earned him recall by the Cubs. He remained with the Chicago outfit until the close of the 1934 season, when he was procured by the Pirates in a big off-season swap of talent.

Bush is a schmeer both in baseball and in business. He makes a close study of the game and figures out lots of pitching tricks that have helped him immensely on the diamond. Bush was born Aug. 23, 1902, is six feet tall, weighs 174 pounds and is married.

EAST LIVERPOOL REVIEW

3 COUNTY FIVES DROP CAGE TILTS AT YOUNGSTOWN

East Palestine, Salem and Lisbon Eliminated From District Play

Special To The Review.
YOUNGSTOWN, March 4.—Columbiana county's three entrants in the Youngstown sectional Class A high school cage tournament were eliminated in the first round of play in the East High gymnasium here last night.

Before an overflow crowd of 2,000, Youngstown Chaney smothered East Palestine, 57-34; South vanquished Salem, 25-16, and Newton Falls romped over Lisbon, 41-19.

Four Chaney cagers scored 10 or more points in the walkaway triumph over East Palestine. Kauffman and Terlecki were the two high men with 15 and 12 points respectively. Guards Brisko and Kovach collected 11 and 10 respectively. Dickens was high for East Palestine with 10 points.

Chaney led 30-14 at the half. Salem got the jump on South in the first quarter to lead 5-4 but the tall Steel City hoopers started connecting in the next frame and went out in front 12-8 and continued to drive through the two remaining periods.

Every man on South's starting combination hit the basket. Shears led the Salem scoring with six points.

Lisbon held its own with Newton Falls in the first quarter of that game, 6-6 but the Fallsmen pushed ahead in the second frame, 18-7. Heber and Dobransky, guard and forward, respectively, accounted for 32 of Newton Falls points. Vana-man led the losers with five field goals and two fouls.

BUCKEYE LOOP FIXES OPENING DAY IN MAY

Verne Bailey Delegated To Draw Up Schedule

The Buckeye Baseball league will consist of six teams this year and will open its season Monday, May 11, loop officials revealed today.

Team managers met last night in the Y. M. C. A. and drew up a plan for the coming campaign. President Verne Bailey of Newell was delegated to draw up a schedule.

Teams entered in the league are Penn-Ohio, Globe Brick, Pughtown, Newell, Wellsville and Glenmora. Plans were made for a benefit entertainment to be staged in April. The proceeds will be divided between the teams to aid in defraying their expenses of organization.

The next meeting of league representatives will be held later this month when league rules will be drawn up.

The leading Unclassified team increased its margin by taking two of three games from the Ad '2's in the Review duckpin league last night while the Editorials were taking two of three from the second place Ad '1's. The last place Circulation outfit pulled up to a tie for fifth place by whitewashing the Composing Rooms.

The Unclassified-Ad '2' match was a hot one. The Unclassifieds won the first game by 12 pins, 543-531, and then dropped the second by a substantial margin, 539-527. They took the match by a pin in the final game, 574-573.

The Editorials stopped the Ad '1's' streak of nine straight games by winning the first of their match, 398-356. They took the second, 461-420, and then were slaughtered, 547-430, in the last.

The Circulations had little trouble with the Composers, taking all three games with ease. The scores: 441-402, 410-371 and 448-339.

Dick Ball of the Ad '1's' knocked down high scoring honors for a single game with a 165. Other high scores: Single game—Vincent, Editorials, 158; R. Desher, Circulations, 152; Niblock, Composing Rooms, 148; and Stiller, Unclassifieds, 146. Three games—Vincent, 415; Stiller, 407, and Desher, 401.

Potter Reserves to Play Prelim Tonight On Carnegie Tech Floor

Morbido Basketeers to Meet College Intra-Mural Five Preceding Tartan-Wash-Jeff Cage Encounter

Joe Morbito's Potter reserve cagers, who closed their regular playing season Saturday night with a 43-14 triumph over Wells-ville, to mark up a record of 20 victories in 22 starts, will be playing in the big time tonight.

The youthful basketeers are slated to furnish the preliminary action up in Pittsburgh to the Carnegie Tech-Washington and Jefferson cage clash.

The Morbito men well meet one of the leading teams in the Carnegie Tech Intra-mural league. Twelve boys will make the trip, accompanied by Coach Morbito, by automobile.

Win 17 Straight The Blue and White reserve team set up a splendid record during the year. After losing the opening game to Monaca by a two point margin, 32-30, it went on to register triumphs in its next 17 starts.

Not until they hit Bridgeport's fast reserve team, did the reserve cagers drop a contest. They were nosed out by Bridgeport in the closing minutes of play after they had run up a substantial lead. That tilt was dropped by only one point, 33-32.

Bridgeport reserve teams over the last three years boast a record of 42 victories in 45 games. Weirton, Toronto and Alliquippa reserve fives were the only ones who were able to give the Potters much competition. These games were comparatively close. Wells-ville also gave the locals a good run for their money early in the season but the latter clearly demonstrated their superiority last Saturday night.

The mainstays of the Potter squad have been Kinsey, Amos, Nesselrode, Wetzel, Maley and McCloy. All but Amos and Nesselrode were members of last year's crack Freshman squad which only lost one game during the season. The first three named cagers have been given workouts in varsity games and will be taken as members of the squad to the Tiltonville tournament, a measure designed to build up experience for next year. The other three will more than likely get in a strong bid, along with the favored trio, for varsity berths next year.

OPEN HEARTH QUINTET INCREASES LOOP LEAD

Jump on Hapless Service Five in Closing Frames to Win 44-25

Teams	W. L. Ave.
Open Hearth	10 1 099
Finishers	7 4 636
Blast-Coke	6 5 545
Chippers	4 6 400
Heat Treaters	3 7 300
Service	2 9 181

The leading Open Hearth quintet increased its advantage in the Midland Crucible Steel cage league last night at the expense of the last place Service outfit, and the Blast-Coke team narrowed the gap between second and third positions by tripping the Finishers.

The Open Hearths only held a 15-10 lead at the end of the first two periods of their scrap with Service but started hitting the hoop in the next two periods and triumphed 44-25.

Center Schmidt led the scoring with eight field goals and three fouls while Standley, forward, was second with 10 points. Lane was high for the losers with three field goals and two fouls for eight points.

The Finishers held the lead in their game with the Blast Cokers for more than three frames, but the latter finished strong to win 30-26. The Finishers led 22-15 at half-time.

Bond led the victors' scoring with 12 points. Oberg was high for the losers with eight.

COSHOCTON CHAMPION

COSHOCTON, March 4.—Coshocton High was basketball champion today for the second consecutive year of the Central Ohio league. It won the crown and rang up the 14th victory of the year with a 38 to 34 win over Newark last night.

OLYMPIC BARGAIN

MOTORISTS MAY TAKE their cars to the Olympic Games next summer without payment of the customary fee of $40 for the "international carnet." Payment of one mark (40 cents) will entitle the driver to keep his car in Germany, duty-free, from July 25 to September 15.

M'KINLEY TAKES TITLE IN GRADE SCHOOL LEAGUE

H. Robinson Leads Cagers To 30-4 Triumph Over Washington Five

McKinley last night copped the East Liverpool Grade school basketball title by overwhelming Washington's hapless basketeers, 30-4.

The new champs hopped on the ill-fated Washington crew in the first quarter and didn't let up on it until the final whistle. The losing quintet didn't have one chance in a thousand of stopping them.

McKinley took a 4-2 lead in the first quarter and increased it to 12-4 by the halftime intermission. The next two periods found the green and white cagers hitting the hoop with amazing facility and they rang up 18 points while holding the opposition scoreless.

H. Robinson, McKinley's diminutive forward, dominated the floor play but he was ably supported by a quartet of nice ball handlers. Robinson tallied 12 points on six field goals to top the scoring column. Each of the other first string cagers connected for four or more points. Ward was second high man with three field goals.

The Washington scoring was limited to field goals by Swager and Theis.

Central tripped Horace Mann in the preliminary game, 31-19, to take consolation honors. Central lost to McKinley and Horace Mann to Washington in the semi-final round of the playoff tournament last Friday.

Kelley was the big gun in the Central attack, connecting for five field goals. His mates were a big help also in running up the score. Each member of the starting five registered in the scoring column.

Horner, Horace Mann forward, paced the losing quintet with two field goals and four fouls for eight points.

Central gained a terrific advantage in the first quarter, slipped a trifle in the second but went on in the third and fourth to increase the lead.

LATE SHIPMENTS DELAY OHIO AUTO TAG SALE IN CITY

Two Local Agencies, Listing
Applications, Look for Arrival Today

LISBON GETS SUPPLY

Shop Early For New License
Plates, Advises Manager
Of Motor Club Here

East Liverpool's distribution of the new blue and white license tags for automotive vehicles to be operated during the new tax year, beginning April 1, has been delayed by non-arrival of plates from the state motor vehicles division at Columbus, two local agencies said today.

Robert H. McHenry of the Victory Motor Sales Co. and Manager Albert P. Morris of the Columbiana County Motor club, distributors here, said supplies were expected today, but in the meantime they have been listing applications.

100 Applications Filled
About 100 motorists have applied for the tags, which will not be carried on automobiles until March 10. Lisbon has been more fortunate, however. County Auditor John H. Irwin, who is deputy registrar of motor vehicles, reported the receipt of 2,297 new tags of the series L-601-L, L-51-M and L-51-N, and immediately arranged to issue the plates through the tax office.

Manager Morris of the motor club appealed to all automobile owners to "do your license shopping early and avoid the last minute rush."

Shop Early, Is Plea
"Each year, the last few days before the deadline, finds license bureaus deluged with applications, and all resources are taxed to the limit. This condition should be greatly improved this year if car owners will plan to apply for licenses in March, which is three months later than their usual purchase date. Ohio is among 12 states which have changed expiration dates."

The automobile club executive announced the following color scheme for license plates in other states:

Alabama, crimson or white; Arizona, black on copper; Arkansas, blue on white; California, black on orange; Colorado, white on blue; Connecticut, gold on blue; Delaware, old gold on blue; Florida, white on red; Georgia, orange on dark blue; Idaho, black on orange; Illinois, white on black; Indiana, cream on crimson; Iowa, blue on white; Kansas, black on orange; Kentucky, aluminum on black; Louisiana, blue on olive; Maine, white on black; Maryland, white on black; Massachusetts, white on maroon; Michigan, black on grey; Minnesota, white on black; Mississippi, white on black; Missouri, black on white; Montana, black on rust; Nebraska, aluminum on black; Nevada, silver on blue; New Hampshire, white on green; New Jersey, orange on black; New Mexico, tan on blue; New York, orange on black; North Carolina, green on black; North Dakota, mid-night black on dark orange; Oklahoma, black on yellow; Oregon, black on aluminum; Pennsylvania, blue on yellow; Rhode Island, white on black; South Carolina, black on yellow; South Dakota, white on maroon; Tennessee, not selected; Texas, blue on cream;

SECURITY ACT FAILS TO AFFECT PENSIONS

No Increase In Age Aid For
Ohioans, Harmon Says

There will be no increase in the amounts of checks issued to persons eligible for the Ohio old age pension, as a result of enactment of the national social security act, Wilbur J. Harmon, of East Liverpool, Columbiana county administrator, said today.

Mr. Harmon, who maintains offices in the Eagles' temple said the state would soon receive federal funds under the act, but they would only go to reduce the amount paid by Ohio, not supplement it. Only one check will be issued as previously, he added.

"It will remain the duty of the state division of aid for the aged to fix the amounts of pensions as in the past, and the method of payment will be unchanged," he announced. "Indications are that the federal grant for Ohio will be made within the next few weeks, thus materially reducing the cost of pensions to the state treasury."

Food Parasites Possible Cause Of Dysentery

Enter Body Through Food,
Drink or Direct Contact With Victim

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Many of my readers will recall the serious outbreak of dysentery a few years ago in Chicago. Since then new interest in the problem of what the doctors call "parasitic infection" of the intestines has been aroused.

We are still faced with the problem of infantile paralysis. Fortunately, no recent outbreak of this disease has occurred. We are further heartened by the promising results obtained by new methods and treatment used in this disease.

A form of dysentery, known to the medical profession as "amebic dysentery," is caused by an intestinal parasite called "endameba histolytica." These parasites enter the human body through food, drink, or perhaps by direct contact with those who have the disease.

The victim may succumb to a severe or even fatal attack. He complains of sudden and severe pain in the abdomen, with a great deal of mucus in the stools. The stools become more frequent though less in amount and consisting chiefly of mucus streaked with blood.

Fever, marked prostration, swelling of the abdomen, nausea and vomiting, are other symptoms. At times the parasites may reach the circulation and by being carried in the blood, produce abscesses in the liver, lungs and other organs. Fortunately, these are rare complications.

Dangerous Phase

Often dysentery causes symptoms that are misleading, because the acute effects may subside and the parasites remain dormant. The length of the quiet period varies in different individuals. This is indeed one of the most dangerous phases of dysentery, because all this time the victim is a danger to others.

A person who carries the parasite of dysentery within his body is known as a "carrier." He is a constant source of danger, for he may readily spread the disease. Contamination of food by his handlers who happen to be carriers is a common way of spreading the disorder to others.

Most cases of amebic dysentery in this country can be traced to carriers. A recent survey showed that from five to fifteen per cent of individuals are infected with some type of ameba.

Bear in mind that once infected with this disease there is always the possibility of a recurrence. Repeated examinations of the stool should be made, at least every three to six months. So long as the parasites are present, the necessary precautions and treatment must be continued.

The Chase
Of all things — to have a stray dog around at this time, Sweet Face trembled.

The dog was still looking at Sweet Face, and Sweet Face thought perhaps he had better go back to the house until he had a chance to hide the bone.

He was afraid the dog might see the bone, or that he might smell it, and so he turned once more for a the house.

The dog growled and the dog barked. Sweet Face shivered so with fear that he could hardly move his legs. But he was bravely trying to make for the door, when the dog suddenly growled again so sharply that Sweet Face was startled and dropped the bone.

"I knew it! I knew it!" growled the dog. "I thought you were up to something and I thought I smelled a bone, but I didn't know what a lamb would be doing with a bone. 'I thought there might be something to eat around here, and I am in luck.'"

Sweet Face had picked up the bone as quickly as he had dropped it and was clutching it between his two front hoofs.

"Now let me have that unless you want a fight," growled the dog in a threatening manner.

"It's not a regular bone," bleated Sweet Face miserably.

"I should say not," returned the dog. "It's an exceptionally large bone. My dog mouth waters for it."

"Help, help!" cried Sweet Face. Where, oh where, were all the others? But the dog had sprung at Sweet Face and had grabbed the bone. Sweet Face gave chase, shouting "HELP!" as he ran.

Chapter 42

"I went down to Gladys," the cook continued, "all of a tremble and said I'd never seen a gentleman look so like death, and Gladys said he'd looked all right the night before, and that it must have been something in London that upset him."

"He'd gone up to London very early before anyone was up. And then I said about not liking to write my name to anything, and Gladys said it was all right because Mr. Elford was there."

And Mr. Savage—the gentleman—did when?

"Next morning as ever was, ma'am. He shut himself up in his room that night and wouldn't let anyone go near him, and when Gladys called him in the morning he was all stiff and dead, and a letter propped up by his bedside—'To the Coroner,' it said. Oh, it gave Gladys a regular turn! And two months later Mrs. Templeton told me she was going abroad to live. But she got me a very good place up north with big wages, and she gave me a nice present and everything. A very nice lady, Mrs. Templeton."

Frankie rose.
"Well," she said, "it's been very nice to hear all this. She slipped a note out of her purse. 'You must let me leave you a—little present. I've taken up so much of your time.'"

"Well, thank you kindly, I'm sure, ma'am. Good day to you and your good gentleman."

Frankie blushed and retreated rather rapidly. Bobby followed her after a few minutes.

"Well," he said, "we seem to have got at all she knows."

"Yes," said Frankie. "And it hangs together."

"So we come back to the old problem—what on earth are Bassington-French & Co. so afraid of our discovering?"

"Nothing strikes you as odd particularly?"

"No, I don't think so—or at least only one thing. Why did Mrs. Templeton send out for the gardener to come and witness the will, when the house-parlormaid was in the house? Why didn't they ask the parlormaid?"

"It's odd your saying that, Frankie," said Bobby.

His voice sounded so queer that Frankie looked at him in surprise.

"Why?"

"Because I stayed behind to ask Mrs. Pratt for Gladys name and address."

"Well?"

"The parlormaid's name was Evans."

Frankie gasped.

"Oh, Bobby!" we're getting there at last!"

"The same thing must have struck Carstairs. And moreover I believe he came to Wales for that reason. Gladys Evans is a Welsh name—Evans was probably a Welsh girl. He might have been following her to Marchbolt. And someone was following him—and so he never got to her."

"Why didn't they ask Evans?" said Frankie. "There must be a reason. With a couple of maids in the house, why send out for a gardener?"

"Perhaps because Chudleigh and Albert were chumps, whereas Evans was rather a sharp girl."

"It can't be only that, Mr. Elford was there and he's quite shrewd."

Suddenly she stopped.

"Bobby," she said, "if you're staying in a house with two servants which do you tip?"

"The house-parlormaid, of course," said Bobby, surprised. "One never tips cook. One never sees her, for one thing."

"No, and she never sees you. At most she might catch a glimpse of you if you were there for some time. But a house-parlormaid waits on you at dinner and calls you and hands you coffee."

"What are you getting at, Frankie?"

"They couldn't have Evans witnessing that will—because Evans would have known that it wasn't Mr. Savage who was making it."

"Good Lord, Frankie, what do you mean? Who was it then?"

"Bassington-French, of course! don't you see, he impersonated Savage? I bet it was Bassington-French who went to that doctor and made all that fuss about having cancer. Then the lawyer is sent for—a stranger who doesn't know Mr. Savage but who will be able to swear that he saw 'Mr. Savage' sign that will, and it's witnessed by two people, one of whom hadn't seen him before and the other an old man who was probably pretty blind and who probably had never seen Savage either. Now do you see?"

"But where was the real Savage all that time?"

"Oh, he arrived all right, and then I suspect they drugged him and put him in the attic, perhaps, and kept him there for twelve hours while Bassington-French did his impersonation stunt. Then he was put back in his bed and given chloral, and Evans finds him dead in the morning."

"My God, I believe you've hit it, Frankie!" said Bobby. "But one thing we must do. Find Evans."

Frankie groaned. "That's going to make it even more difficult."

"How about the post office?" suggested Bobby.

They were just passing it. Frankie darted inside and brought a book of stamps, commented on the weather and then said:

"But I expect you always have better weather here than we do. I live in Wales—Marchbolt. You wouldn't believe the rain we have."

The young woman behind the counter said that last Bank Holiday it had rained something cruel. Frankie said, "There's someone
